

War Department Allows Lindbergh To Resign Corps

Stephen Early Queries Whether Flier Has Returned Decoration From Hitler Criticises Act
Early Says Lindbergh Should Not Have Given Out Letter

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The War Department announced today that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's resignation as a reserve air corps officer had been accepted.

The famous flier had written President Roosevelt he was tendering his resignation because the President's comments on him at a press conference last Friday left "no honorable alternative."

While it has been the War Department's policy not to accept resignations from reserve officers during the emergency period, Secretary Stimson possessed discretionary power to act on it.

In the conference the President compared the flier and other persons who predicted defeat of Britain by Germany to the Copperheads of the Civil War. The term was applied to northerners who believed the Union army incapable of victory.

Stephen Early, a presidential secretary, commented that Lindbergh's resignation "leads me to wonder if he is returning his decoration to Mr. Hitler."

Early referred to an honorary award for service to aviation given Lindbergh on a visit to Germany several years ago.

Early Is Sharp-Spoken

The White House official also was sharp-spoken in saying that Lindbergh had released a letter to President Roosevelt for publication before it was received at the White House. Twice, he said, Lindbergh has followed that procedure.

Lindbergh gave out the letter yesterday in New York, notifying the President he was resigning his commission in the air corps reserve because of implications which he said the chief executive had made concerning his loyalty, character and motives.

The resignation followed a press conference discussion in which Mr. Roosevelt had classified the famous flier with Civil and Revolutionary War appeasers.

Asked whether the President would consider it a loss if Lindbergh's resignation were accepted, Early said the answer would be provided when and if action on the resignation was taken by the War Department.

Reporters said that this opened up a "nice question" of whether the resignation should be accepted since it might open the gate for conscientious objectors to protest against any service to their government. Lindbergh, it was noted, would have no duties to perform in war time.

Provides Open Commission

"The President," Early commented, "indicated he wouldn't have any duties if he continued to hold his commission. Now there is a commission some one else can have."

Early said that while the newspapers printed Lindbergh's letter of resignation yesterday, "it has not yet been received" at the White House.

He then related that during a controversy over the cancellation of air mail contracts and the carrying of air mail by the army in 1934, Lindbergh had sent a telegram to the President on a Sunday afternoon. He said it was printed in Monday morning papers but did not get to the President until 10 a. m. on Monday.

"Is that pulled on the White House often?" a reporter inquired. "Twice by Lindbergh," Early answered.

In 1934 Lindbergh assailed the President's action on cancelling the President's action on cancelling

Nazis Shell Anglo Ports From Coast

German - British Light Speed Craft Engage in Battle in Channel Waters
Crete Is Next
Hitler Prepares Attempt Against Crete, South of Greece

(By The Associated Press)

A battle between British and German speedboats, attacking along the southeast "invasion" coast of England, was reported today as Nazi long-range guns on the French coast unleashed the heaviest cross-channel bombardment of the war.

The twin actions may have been "feeler" stabs of the type likely to become general in an invasion attempt.

D.N.B., the official German news agency, declared several British speedboats were damaged in the clash.

Apparently, however, Hitler's long-awaited storming of the British Isles was not in the immediate offing. It was pointed out in London yesterday that the R.A.F. had not concentrated recently on bombing German-held ports across the channel. This would indicate that the R.A.F. had not found any new massing of German troop barges.

In the Balkans, Hitler's war machine—undefeated on land—was reported girding for an assault on the island of Crete, 75 miles south of the Greek mainland, in what might be a full-dress rehearsal for an attempt to invade England.

Informed quarters in Berlin said today that German troops were "approaching the last harbors in extreme southern and southwestern Greece."

Beyond Jay Crete.

Seat of Government

The island—legendary birthplace of Zeus, ancient Greek god of thunder and ruler of the skies—is the new governmental seat of King George II, who fled Athens last Wednesday.

It also serves as a British base, and presumably part of the British expeditionary force has landed there in its flight from the Grecian Peloponnese.

D.N.B., the official German news agency, asserted that five British ships, totalling 18,500 tons were sunk by Nazi dive bombers yesterday in passage between the Greek mainland and Crete.

On the western front, a violent cross-channel duel raged throughout this forenoon as German long-range guns hurled shells for more than four hours into the Dover area—possible invasion gateway—while British guns returned the fire.

Observers on the English coast said it was the most sustained bombardment of the war.

R.A.F. bombers dashed across the channel at the height of the shelling, and heavy explosions along the French coast from Boulogne to Cap Gris Nez indicated they were pounding the Nazi gun emplacements.

At its narrowest point, from Dover to Calais, the Strait is 21 miles wide.

In North Africa, Premier Mussolini's high command reported, German and Italian scouting troops inflicted heavy losses on the British in fighting around Salum, just inside the Egyptian frontier from Libya.

London reports countered with the assertion that the Axis vanguard, driving toward the Suez Canal, had been held in check by the harassing action of British patrols.

Australian troops at the siege-girt Libyan port of Tobruk were said to have made new sallies against Axis forces in that sector, 80 miles west of the Egyptian border.

With the B.E.F. contingent proceeding in its withdrawal from the Greek Peloponnese—described by Australia's Acting Prime Minister A. W. Fadden as "conducting themselves with great heroism in the face of heavy pressure"—attention centered on Germany's heralded plan to attack Crete.

Informed Germans regarded the long, narrow island as a springboard from which Alexandria, Port Said and the Suez Canal could be threatened seriously.

Morning newspapers in England said Nazi occupation of Greece's Aegean Islands—the Germans already have claimed Samothrace, Lemnos and Thasos—might afford stepping stones linked conveniently with Italy's Dodecanese Islands, from which the Nazis might move into French-mandated Syria, thence toward Suez from the east.

Thus, some of the papers said, the Germans could leap-frog past the Dardanelles, which the Turks have declared was guarded by a million bayonets.

Nazis Still Pursue

Fighting continued only on the Peloponnese in the south of Greece, sketchy reports indicating the Germans were still pursuing the last of the B.E.F. as it fell back toward "escape" ports.

That the war was back on a

Mine Union Announces Coal Production In Bituminous Fields Would Resume As Two-Year Agreement Is Planned

Contestant Makes Good Will Tour for Blossom Festival

Miss Maria Smith, the Governor Clinton Hotel's candidate for the 1941 Ulster County Apple Blossom Queen, made a 135-mile good will tour of the Hudson Valley on Saturday afternoon, extending invitations to attend and participate in the festival on May 10 to the various cities in the valley. The caravan, which consisted of—Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne, four members of the Ulster County Motorcycle Club, and the queen candidate's car made stops at Newburgh, Beacon, Poughkeepsie, Hudson and Catskill. Miss Smith will compete with 15 other contestants at the municipal auditorium on Friday evening for the title of Ulster County Blossom Queen.

Men Are Expected Back in Mines Thursday as Operators Agree Upon $1-a-Day Boost

Officials Pleased
Worried Defense Heads Say They Are Joyous Over Settlement

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The United Mine Workers Union announced today that soft coal production would be resumed Thursday morning in the nation's bituminous fields shut down since April 1 in a dispute over a new wage contract.

The announcement was made by a spokesman for Union President John L. Lewis after he had discussed with his district presidents in the Appalachian coal area the decision of southern producers last night to accept President Roosevelt's proposal to reopen the mines.

The union said it had received the notice from L. Ebersole Gaines, chairman of the southern producers' group, that the latter was willing to negotiate a new two-year agreement with the miners' union to be made retroactive to the date of resumption of coal production.

The southern operators unexpectedly agreed to a $1-a-day wage boost pending the final contract settlement.

Union officials said the reopening of the mines was scheduled for Thursday instead of Wednesday because Thursday is the beginning of a payroll period in the mines. If production started Wednesday, they said, it would mean that the operators would have to make up a payroll for one day instead of a full day period.

Comes as Good News

The end of the month-old deadlock was buoyant news to worried defense officials, for it promised speedy replenishment of the dwindling fuel supplies which threatened to cause major curtailment of arms production.

The soft coal mines in the eight state Appalachian area and outlying districts which produce approximately 11,000,000 tons a week, were expected to go back into production as soon as John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union and the northern and southern producers can complete the details for getting miners back into the pits.

The break in the coal wage controversy, which has kept the mines shut since April 1 came last night when Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced that the southern operators had accepted a proposal by the President to reopen the southern mines and negotiate a wage agreement with the U. M. W. on a retroactive basis to the date of resumption.

Provides Surprise

The decision of the southern operators to put a $1 a day wage boost into effect at once—raising the southern rate from $5.60 to $6.60—provided a surprise to most of the mine union officials since the President had not asked for any wage change in his back-to-work proposal a week ago.

The decision of the southern operators was reached after a night conference which followed a visit with Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones and a Senate committee inquiry into the cause of the mine shutdown.

As one operator explained it, the commerce chief told the southern producers bluntly, "Something has to be done and done quickly."

The northern producers and the U. M. W., already in agreement on a new $7 a day wage scale, had announced their readiness a week ago to accept the President's reopening plan, which provided that the northern mines reopen on the basis of the agreement already worked out.

Fire Board Will Meet to Appoint Aide, Dispatchers

Commissioners to Select Those for Jobs From Civil Service Lists Released Today

Kingston's Board of Fire Commissioners will meet Wednesday evening at the Central Fire Station at which time it is expected that the board will appoint a deputy fire chief and two dispatchers to have charge of the new fire alarm system from the eligible lists that have been filed with the board by the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

The eligible list for deputy fire chief contains three names from which one appointment is to be made. The list follows:

Harold A. Sanford of Shufeldt street. Joseph M. Hallinan of Downs street. James M. Hutton of Wynkoop Place.

The eligible list for the position of dispatcher contains four names from which two appointments will be made. The list follows:

Aaron Dornbusch of Elmendorf street. Philip McGowan of East Union street. John McElrath of Wilbur avenue. Clifford Bennett of Green street.

The eligible lists were compiled from the results of the state examination held some weeks ago here. The examination papers were prepared by the state civil service board, and the papers were marked by the state board.

Six members of the paid fire department took the examination for deputy fire chief of which number five passed and one failed.

In the examination for dispatcher 21 took the tests. Of that number 20 passed and one failed, according to the local civil service board records.

The marked examination papers and the ratings of those who

Governor Favors Mortgage Law Be Extended to 1942

Lehman Vetoes Measure Sponsored by G. O. P. to Provide Revenue, Calls It Error

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Extension of New York's eight-year-old mortgage moratorium law until July 1, 1942, with a "tapering off" scheduled the following 12 months was approved today by Governor Lehman as a "step in the right direction."

"I would, however," the governor explained, "have preferred a bill with larger amortization requirements accompanied by a reduction of high interest rates."

The measure, opposed by Kings and Queens counties' legislators on the ground "any modification of the law would result in misery to the homeowner," provides a "tapering off" beginning July 1, 1942. The first quarterly installment of a one per cent annual payment on principal is due three months later.

It was sponsored by Republican Senator Rodney Jones, Rochester. Meanwhile, the governor vetoed a Republican-sponsored measure designed to provide $3,600,000 in new state revenue after terming the G. O. P. estimate a "serious mistake."

The bill would have appropriated from unclaimed grants uncovered in New York city's abandoned awards to unknown owners in condemnation proceedings, an amount, Republican legislative leaders said, totaling $7,300,000.

Would Retain Half

Cities would be permitted to retain half for amortization of long-term debts with the state getting the rest.

"It is obvious the real facts were not known to the legislature when they passed the bill," Lehman said. "They were told by their fiscal experts that there was available a fund of $1,300,000. It now turns out that even under most optimistic

Tokyo Paper Says U.S. Only Step From War

Extension of Atlantic Patrol Means United States Is Doing Work of Anglo Navy, Will Mean Conflict

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—The newspaper Kokumin declared today the United States decision for extended patrol of Atlantic waters of the western hemisphere "means the United States is but a step from entering the war."

"The United States navy is taking care of this route to England, which should be the work of the British navy," Kokumin said. "No one can deny this."

"This also means conflict will begin between the United States and Germany."

The Times Advertiser, controlled by the Japanese foreign office, carried a headline "War Worry Causes General Price Drop" over a story which said "concern is felt on the market that the United States at last is bracing up to take a catastrophic plunge into the European war, and this caused a wholesale fall in stocks."

The Times Advertiser said in an editorial that the possibility of peace terms rests upon the United States and added:

"Hence, the United States holds the power of decision, and a grave responsibility rests upon President Roosevelt's shoulders in this critical hour."

The editorial was based upon the idea "the British people cannot fight on alone."

The usually temperate newspaper Asahi described the United States as "going headlong into war" and said "the grim determination of Roosevelt to take the offensive against the Axis powers means letting loose American patrols on all the seas of the world for conveying United States transports carrying war materials to Britain."

Most of the Tokyo papers ignored the term patrol and described such naval operations as conveying.

An editorial entitled "Roosevelt Eye-Wash" in the Newspaper Yomiuri said "in order to carry out conveying by American warships it would be necessary to revise the neutrality act. Hence, the administration's smoke screen of extension of the patrol area."

Water Main Break Rips Street Apart

Bronx Area Is Turned Into Eight-Foot Lake

New York, April 29 (AP)—A torrent of water gushing from a break in a huge water main ripped apart a Bronx street for two blocks today, deprived hundreds of families of water, and flooded buildings, necessitating the rescue of a score of persons from their homes.

City officials said the break, in a 48-inch main, was the worst in the borough's history. Water stood eight feet deep in some homes; at the point of the break, a hole 25 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep was gouged out of the street.

The ruptured pipe, a main trunk line feeding many smaller mains, affected the water supply of families in the Kingsbridge, Riverdale and Spuyten Duyvil sections of the Bronx, and the Inwood section of Manhattan.

Edward J. Clark, Bronx borough engineer of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, declined to estimate how many thousands of gallons had escaped as the water gushed out, or how many families were cut off from water supplies.

The break occurred in the early morning, but was not discovered immediately because many families living nearby thought the sound of rushing water they heard was a very heavy rainstorm.

Four feet of water filled the cellar of a 96-family apartment

Fuller Says Industry Has Worked Modern Miracle of Defense

Philadelphia, April 29 (AP)—American industry has performed a modern miracle of defense, declared President Walter Fuller of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"Through the voluntary co-operation of free men, we have made more progress in 10 months than Hitler did in two and a half years with his much-vaunted dictated economy."

Addressing 500 industrialists from this heart of the "arsenal" region last night, the head of Curtiss Publishing Company pointed out that industry had absorbed 512,000,000,000 in defense orders in less than a year and placed 99 per cent of them in production.

"And our February survey shows that 86 per cent of the manufacturers expect to deliver on or before contract delivery date."

By the end of 1942, Fuller stated, America will be "the unsurpassed arsenal of the world."

"Declarations that 'there shall be no war,' and 'no A. E. F.' fade into the distance. Many people are saying that the war nobody wants is upon us. Shooting depends only upon when some foreign power wants to pull the trigger."

"Does this shock you? America needs to be shocked. America needs to be brought up short against the stark realism of what is going on about us."

Farmers May Ask Draft Deferments for Men Who Till Soil Likely in View of Shortage

Ithaca, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—New York farmers, their labor supply reduced one-fourth in the past year, have the right to ask local draft boards to defer agricultural workers, the state emergency agricultural defense committee holds.

The committee decided yesterday to request county defense committees to inform farmers of this right and point out to workers the defense importance of food production.

The committee also discussed, without action, a proposal to shift all starting dates of rural schools to provide more labor when most needed.

President Elected

General Angarita Becomes Head of Venezuela as Contreras' Successor

Caracas, Venezuela, April 29 (AP)—General Isaias Medina Angarita, consistent advocate of Pan American collaboration, yesterday was elected by the Venezuelan Congress as president of the republic, succeeding General Eleazar Lopez Contreras.

General Medina will take office for a five-year term at an inauguration to be arranged by Congress, probably May 5.

His was the second constitutional election of a president since death terminated the 27-year dictatorship of General Juan Vicente Gomez. Lopez Contreras, who succeeded Gomez in 1935, resigned April 19.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Nose For News
Indianapolis — When a dog bit dogcatcher Marion Woods, his nose was news.
He showed up at police headquarters with the nose in bandages and explained:
"I bent down to look at a dog in front of 337 West Fourteenth, and he reached up and bit me."

Too Easy
Richmond, Ind. — To foil cracksmen, Herb Meier and Art Bode hung a sign reading, "nothing inside," on the safe in their filling station and listed the combination.

Somebody broke into the place, took 24 cartons of cigarettes, opened the safe and stole a $35 gold watch, which had been left there by mistake.

Nation For Rent
Independence, Mo. — "If the French aren't in France, where are they?" a puzzled student asked history Professor J. C. Truman.

But the French for the most part still are in France, he explained.
"I don't get it," she answered. "I keep reading about unoccupied France."

Finnish and Finish
Los Angeles — Finnish first to finish fast is the new motto for Hollywood Park jockeys.
They've installed Finnish steam baths to help them make weight. Ring Crosby, an enthusiast for the hot rock devices designed by the Finns, sold them on the idea.

He's the Champ
Paris, Ill. — Harry Stanton, a Republican, probably can claim a tenure record in the same office when he begins his 17th term as city clerk.

Since his first election in 1907 by 225 votes, he has increased his margin at every balloting. The last time he won by 1,018. From 1913 to 1935, Democrats put up no opposition.

Boomeranging Boat
Chicago — Richard Streeter's speedboat behaved like a handful of boomerangs when he fell into the water while circling in lake Michigan.

"Every time I looked up," he said, "the boat was heading toward me. Then I'd duck and let it pass overhead."

After he swam out of range, the boat smashed into a piling. Streeter was brought to shore aboard another craft.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Race to Bear First Crop Always Won by Radishes

When the home gardener sows his seeds, and then watches anxiously to see which vegetable wins the race to mature first, victory always goes to the radishes.

They are so easy to grow, and mature so rapidly, we are apt to consider them lightly as a food crop. Not so the doctors. They are rated as rich in vitamins A, B, C and D, with 133 calories a pound.

And nothing is better for an appetizer than a crisp, spicy radish, picked at its prime, when the flesh is firm, and flavor tart. The earliest varieties can be grown to this stage in twenty days from sowing.

In planning a radish program, consider the whole season. You can enjoy radishes from early spring until Christmas if you grow the early globe varieties, the mid-season giant globes, the summer long and half long varieties, and the giant winter kinds. All seed catalogues list these classes, and tell you when to sow them.

Anybody in the world can grow radishes. Even when they are planted so thickly that none of them ought to do anything, a few will crowd their way to edible maturity. The one chief fault in planting radishes is that they will be planted too thickly and because they are such a common obliging vegetable, few gardeners will take the trouble to thin them properly in order to realize a quality crop.

Radishes should be sown thinly and if not thinned they should be thinned when well above ground to give each radish two inches of room. Then you will have real radishes. If you want to make one good garden resolution, resolve to plant radish seed thinly.

The earlier a variety matures the shorter is its season of crispness before turning pithy. Plant early, medium and late sorts at the same time, to have a succession.

The radish can be planted before the frost is well out of the ground, as it is very hardy, but to get the best radishes rich soil is needed. Fast growth and cool weather make the firm, solid, snappy radishes that are most desired. Rapid growth is helped by raking to the top soil before sowing four rows of balanced plant food for each 100 square feet.

Finally Sharon left home for a career as a singer. And in New York some scout or other heard about the songs.

Berlin wanted them, and first intended to send an arranger to Texarkana to take them down. Then it was decided to bring Mrs. Torrains to New York, where Helmy Kresser spent ten days or so reducing Mrs. Torrains' songs to paper. Now she's gone back to Texarkana and her husband, whose name is Paul W. Torrains.

Mrs. Torrains has tried, she says, to write songs on her own, and the result "is like sitting at a dead telephone. I can do nothing alone."

Never Knows When She never knows when a song is going to pop into her head. Strangely, when they come they come complete with an excellent accompaniment — not merely a tune and a few chords. They are of all sorts, and most of them fall into the useful groove between a popular song and the "art song" so-called.

Mrs. Torrains is no spiritualist, yet she feels she has had a "manifestation" — as who wouldn't? Sometimes she gets pictures, too. These are odd affairs of hundreds of crossing lines, out of which faces emerge. And lately a voice has been speaking through her, she admits, in tongues she cannot understand.

As I said, I'm sure of just two things: the songs exist, and they are being published!

Somewhere a Voice, and Presto, Another Song!

By JOHN SELBY

Associated Press Arts Editor

New York—This is the fourth time I have tried to start this story about Mrs. Joe Taylor Torrains' songs. The reason it's difficult is that I'm sure of only two things about them: Mrs. Torrains wrote them and Irving Berlin, Inc., bought them.

Here's the rest of the story, as Mrs. Torrains told it to me.

Mrs. Torrains never studied music, except a little piano as a child. She is the wife of a Texarkana, Tex., oil man, the mother of two girls and two boys, an Episcopalian and a typical southern woman of the slender, short, vivid type. She is in her 50's.

She still can't sit down and write a song. Yet she has written 30, and 10 have been taken by the Berlin organization, which is not noted for throwing good money after unproductive music.

Berlin also, according to Mrs. Torrains and her daughter Sharon, has taken options on the rest of the lot.

This is how it happened—About 15 years ago Mrs. Torrains was, she says, washing dishes at the sink in her kitchen. She heard a voice she did not know, and it told her to get a paper and pencil because it had something for her.

"Pencil Began Writing" "I paid no attention," says Mrs. Torrains. "I heard it the second

Mrs. Joe Taylor Torrains and daughter Sharon

Mrs. Torrains never knows when a song is going to pop into her head time, and then again. So finally I said to myself, I'm going to find out whether I'm crazy or what, and I went upstairs for paper and pencil. I sat down at my dining room table, and pretty soon the pencil began writing.

"When it finished I saw a poem on the paper, written in a strange backhand completely different from my normal writing. And I knew the music. I never forgot either; although I don't know enough music to put down what comes to me."

The same thing has happened again and again. Thirty times, to be exact. For years Mrs. Torrains and her daughter Sharon sang the songs about Texarkana, and

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, April 29 — On Thursday afternoon, members of the student body of the Marlborough Central School chose Miss Mary Frances Ferguson for their May Queen for the annual May Day exercises which will be held Friday, May 16. Miss Ferguson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Stuart Ferguson and a member of the Senior class. Miss Ferguson will choose the members of her court and will preside over the festival. The program includes the crowning of the Queen and the presentation of a pageant, "Awake, 'Tis Spring," by students of the school under the direction of Mrs. Louella Wersen Taylor, who is assisted by other members of the faculty. Miss Ferguson will go to Kingston May 2 at the Apple Blossom festivities. At the meeting of the Charles V. V. Post, American Legion held last week, plans were started for the annual Memorial Day exercises. The annual communion of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held Sunday at the 9 o'clock Mass in St. Mary's Church, followed by a communion breakfast in St. Mary's Hall, with the Monroes of Newburgh doing the serving. Reservations must be in on or before May 1, and may be made with Mrs. Mary Manion, grand regent, the cost of which is 60 cents. Members of St. Mary's parish, who wish to attend should get in touch with the grand regent.

The period for collection of taxes in the town of Marlborough has been extended until June 1, and the tax roll will be in the hands of the tax collector, William J. Walsh until that date. On June 1 the books will be turned over to the county treasurer in Kingston.

Mrs. Frank Emberton of Union City, N. J., is a guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powell.

Seventy local persons attended the annual father and son banquet held in the Marlborough Central School, Wednesday evening, by the Future Farmers of America. Chester A. DuMont, president of the New York State Farm Bureau was the guest speaker. William Lyons, president of the F. F. A. acted as toastmaster. Group singing was led by music supervisor, Paul Maroney. Songs were by P. Porpiglia, D. Lafaro, L. K. Kiss, C. Tompkins, J. Mosca and L. Dawes. Dominick Lafara played an accordion solo. Talks were given by Edward L. Dalby, principal, Gerard Maier, agriculture instructor, Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., president of the school band. A report of the F. F. A. work was given by Salvatore Ferrara.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Carpenter and two children, Richard and Cynthia and James Lewis were dinner guests Tuesday evening of the Rev. and Mrs. Claude McIntosh. The dinner marked the birthday of Mr. Carpenter and the Rev. Mr. McIntosh.

Mrs. George Coutant and Mrs. Clifton Stant and children have returned home after spending part of last week at the Coutant summer home in West Shokan. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Atkins and George Coutant joined them for a few days.

Mrs. Jack Savage of West Haverstraw recently visited her mother, Mrs. Patrick McGire, and her aunt, Miss Mary Casey.

Edward L. Danby, principal of the Marlborough Central High School, will attend a meeting for principals of six-year secondary schools to be held Thursday, May 1 at Monticello. The meeting has been called by Harrison H. Vancott.

Miss Eleanor Arzal of North Bergen, N. J., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alton Sarles.

Gardiner Resident Held on Criminal Negligence Charge

James Szabo, 39, of Gardiner, is being held in the Orange county jail in Goshen following a crash between the car he was driving and another car resulting in the death of Frederick Peterson, 45, of Spring Valley. The charge against Szabo is that of criminal negligence.

Szabo, who fled into nearby woods after the car he was driving had collided with another car, was captured by State Troopers after a brief chase at Tuexedo.

Instantly killed in the accident was Frederick Peterson who was pinned between the rear end of his own car and that operated by Szabo, while Peterson was pushing his car toward Tuexedo in an effort to obtain gasoline for it.

Peterson's wife, a passenger in the car with a seven-year-old son, suffered lacerations of the right leg and severe shock in the crash.

Szabo's escape began in Gardiner when he allegedly took the 1940 sedan of Edward F. Tiffany of that village from in front of the Hotel Gardiner, according to State Troopers. The theft occurred about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The crash occurred at Potter's Curve, north of Tuexedo.

NO REFUGE

Anybody who dreams of escaping from the horrors of this so-called civilized world by withdrawing to some South Sea paradise may as well give up the idea. It has been tried and it doesn't work. Mrs. Hester Parsons, an American woman, who several years ago fled from the depression with her husband and two daughters to the paradise of Tahiti, has returned home disillusioned.

There have been six revolutions in Tahiti in the last eight months, Mrs. Parsons reports. The islands are French. When France fell, political factions developed, with quarrels between Petain and de Gaulle sympathizers, and rioting among the natives and duels among the French nearly every day. It took nearly a year, after the ladies decided to come back home, until they could find a ship, and when they set sail, they ran into terrible storms and the trip to San Francisco took 42 days. They carried a cargo of live pigs and lived on them when the pigs died.

This country, however deplorable in such matters as weather, politics, strikes, and so on, seems to beat the island paradises in various other ways. Maybe our normal troubles, too, are good for us. And even the abnormal troubles we seem to be heading into may not be so discommoding as duels at sunrise over differences of political opinion.

AIRLINE SAFETY

Seventeen airlines operating in and from the United States were honored recently by the National Safety Council for flying in 1940 without a single passenger fatality. That may surprise some people. Several serious airlines accidents in recent months have overshadowed the vast amount of routine flying which goes on steadily without trouble of any sort.

One airline has flown a billion passenger miles in five years without losing a single passenger. In Group A, composed of lines that operate 100,000,000 or more passenger miles yearly, the first award was earned by completion of 959,599,024 such miles without a fatality. The record of the second was 414,568,326.

In Group B, the safe mileage totals for first and second place were 94,803,998 and 58,181,817. The winner in Group C, for lines operating less than 10,000,000 miles, had flown safely 24,515,766. Eleven airlines had no passenger fatalities in 1940.

All these records were made in a year which saw a 50 per cent increase in passenger travel by air. In fact, last year was tops in traffic and, in safety, second only to the period of 17 consecutive months in 1939-1940 during which there was no passenger death on any commercial airline.

HONEST MAN

Diogenes surely would have been glad to meet W. D. Meyers of Deemer, Miss. Meyers used to have a cow. Perhaps he had more than one, but that is not important. The particular cow of this story wandered onto a railroad right of way and was killed. And then Meyers wrote a letter to the section foreman of the railroad. This is what he said: "In making your report on the killing of my cow, you may notify your claim department that there will be no claim for this cow, as it was my cow that was out of place, and you may consider it a closed incident."

Such honesty is to be recommended to a great many people in many walks of life.

WOE TO THE WEAK!

In so far as an ordinary citizen and observer of current events can see any clear points of view in Colonel Lindbergh's international doctrine, it is something like this: "That if a strong nation attacks a weak nation, and the weak nation resists, and is thereupon destroyed by the strong nation, then the weak nation deserves its fate for resisting. And such weak nations deserve no help thereafter."

This seems to be a fair conclusion from the colonel's public statements. And it is one of the most insidious and destructive doctrines put forth in our time.

It violates logic. It violates ethics. It violates patriotism. It is contrary to the fundamental principles of existence on which our government and all free governments are based. It is a blow at democracy, which in all ages has had to defend itself against the aggression of military dictatorships.

ROAD TO WAR

Expansion of American aid to Britain encourages the British to keep on fighting at a time when they have seemed in danger of discouragement.

It seems to be assumed now that we will go the whole way with them, advancing gradually, but perhaps rapidly, to a state of full belligerency.

Secretary of the Navy Knox took the bull by the horns in his speech the other evening, when he frankly remarked that we were already so far into the war that further steps wouldn't make much change in the situation. We may get in definitely without a declaration of war, although a specific declaration, too, might come sooner or later to reassure the British and sustain their morale.

All of which is lamentable—but in the opinion of most Americans, probably inevitable.

The Balkans now move back into the Dark Ages, and lucky are the people from that region who were wise enough to move to America before the big trouble started.

What the Germans need, to get into England, is a wooden horse that swims.

The curse of democracy is bureaucracy.

RHEUMATISM — ARTHRITIS

A middle-aged woman began to have some "rheumatic" pains in both knees. She applied heat and wintergreen oil and got some relief but made up her mind that, rather than suffer with rheumatism as her mother had done, she would undergo operation, take any kind of medicine and follow any diet prescribed for her.

She consulted an "arthritis" specialist who made a careful examination and advised that the symptoms were due to rheumatism and he would have to try to find the cause or causes. He started with the mouth and found that the patient was undergoing treatment for pyorrhea—inflammation of the gums. An X-ray of the teeth showed infection of two. Squeezing of the tonsils showed not white cheesy matter but yellow pus. He found that she was constipated and was a great starch eater. Although not lazy as she did her own housework, he found that she did little or no walking and took no other form of exercise. She got little or no sunshine.

The physician pointed out that the infected teeth and tonsils were likely partly to blame but her starch diet, constipation, and lack of exercise were likely just as much to blame. He put her on an arthritis diet—less starch, more fruit and vegetables, beef liver, ham and bacon, and two tablets of brewer's yeast daily. As the pain became less, two teeth were removed. The removal of the teeth "stirred up" poisons for a few days and pain increased slightly. When she was free of pain, the tonsils were removed, both of which were found to be badly infected. Again the pain appeared for a few days and then gradually disappeared until by the end of ten months there was no pain or stiffness in the joints.

While following the arthritis diet, the patient lost from 12 to 15 pounds, which brought her down to normal weight. This loss of weight meant that the knee joints, already disturbed, did not have to bear this excess weight as before.

This woman has continued to use a heat lamp for a few minutes daily as "precaution" to arthritis. Where there is a "tendency" to arthritis, the removal of infection, the application of heat, and following the arthritis diet should bring relief from pain and prevent any crippling unless joint has been damaged too badly.

Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis

Sufferers with chronic rheumatism and arthritis will receive many helpful suggestions as to diet, heat application, exercise and the like in Dr. Barton's booklet, "Rheumatism and Arthritis" (No. 109). To obtain it just send ten cents to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing your name and address and mentioning the Kingston Daily Freeman.

April 29, 1921.—Will of John Burroughs, famous naturalist, filed in surrogate's court here. Julian Burroughs and his children were the principal legatees.

John P. McCabe bought the building on Wall street occupied by the Mohican Company. Adelbert Auchmoody died at Lake Katrine. John S. Burns of Abell street died.

April 29, 1931.—Mrs. Albert Ashdown died in her home on Smith avenue. Grand Master Lloyd J. Babcock of Jamestown, and his staff of officers, and an official visit to the Odd Fellows of Kingston and Ulster county. The meeting was held in the rooms of Aretas Lodge on Broadway and Brewster street.

Another case of smallpox discovered in Kingston by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer.

Mrs. Lewis D. Black died in her home on West Chester street.

Henry Millonig sold the West Shore Hotel on Railroad avenue to Charles Weirbach of Veteran, who planned to take possession on May 15.

The National Forest system is 50 years old this year, although the name "National Forest" did not come into use until 1907. The Forest Service recalls that the beginning of the system was a tract of a million and a quarter acres in Wyoming set aside by President Benjamin Harrison in an order of March 30, 1891, and confirmed by proclamation, September 10, 1891. This tract is now part of the Shoshone and Teton National Forests in Wyoming. President Harrison in 1891 made a second reservation of more than a million acres of public land in Colorado, the White River Plateau Timberland Reserve, now the White River National Forest. In 1892 he followed with eight reservations—more than 3,300,000 acres in all—in Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon, and California; and the Afton National Forest and Fish Culture Reserve, now a part of the Chugach National Forest in Alaska. The present system includes 160 National Forests and nearly one-tenth of the land area of the United States. The first forests were created by withdrawing from entry tracts of the public lands. The Weeks law of 1911 provided for Federal purchase of lands for national forests, and most of the National Forests east of the Great Plains have been developed through purchases.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—In a hole in the ground in Kentucky, the U. S. A. has nearly all of its gold buried. Some day, in a hole in the ground in Kansas (or somewhere) the country may have much of its culture buried.

Archibald MacLeish, head of the Library of Congress, has been pushing the Library's M-day scheme for months. He now is able to report that before any bomb blasts the old-fashioned building that houses more than 6,000,000 books, 1,500,000 maps and cartographers' photographs, nearly that many pieces of music, and at least a half million fine prints, plans will have been completed to make some 600,000 of the most treasured of these items safe against blitzkrieg.

The details are a secret, but since they are based on the experiences of great libraries abroad, some conclusions may be drawn. In the first place, there is the problem of the selection of books, manuscripts, prints, to be saved. To get at this, Librarian MacLeish appointed Dr. Jerrold Orne, a fellow of the Library, as coordinator. Then he asked for volunteers to work on the cataloging. Seven hundred men and women stopped forward and to date they have put in more than 10,000 hours of overtime (without pay or compensating time off) to get the library's treasures tagged for storage.

Beat the Quiz Kids!

The Quiz Kids are a group of bright youngsters who have amazed the country with their ability to answer correctly questions like the ones below. See if you can beat their percentages—but remember that these children are exceptional. Rate your own score to see if you can equal or beat their combined average of 90 per cent on today's questions.

1. Songs, flowers and birds remind us that the vernal season is here. Can you name the National anthem, flower and bird? Two out of three.
2. We are sure you can locate the Nile River, but can you name two of its tributaries that have a color in their names? (Five points for each.)
3. If you remember these poems you can tell: (a) Who went "to fish for the herring-fish;" (b) Who went "a-milking;" (c) Who went "To dance by the light of the moon?"
4. How often does the word "velo" appear in the Constitution of the United States?
5. Many are the Smiths but which one: (a) Founded a colony; (b) Founded a religion? (Five points each.)
6. If you had an accident with a boat and it suffered a hole just above the water line, should you go into the first seaboard port or sail up a river where the water is more shallow?
7. Tell us where these famous "stones" are situated: (a) Blarney Stone; (b) Stonehenge. (Five for each.)
8. One of these three metals is an alloy. Can you name it? Iron, copper, brass.
9. If you had three trees to plant and wished to plant them in three straight rows and found that by adding three trees you could arrange them in three straight rows of three trees each, how did you plant them?
10. Why would an airplane pilot observe cows in a field to determine wind direction?

Discussion at Press Conferences Often Proves Embarrassing to President, Who Thus Increases Problems

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

(Copyright, 1941)
 Washington, April 29.—The give and take of impromptu discussion at presidential press conferences makes news, but it often proves embarrassing to the Chief Executive who multiplies his own problems by off-hand comments.

There really was no need of an answer by President Roosevelt to the question as to why Colonel Lindbergh, a reserve officer in the army air corps, had not been called to active service. Nor was there any need even by indirectness to imply that because Colonel Lindbergh disagreed with his government's policy he couldn't serve patriotically in time of war.

Not long ago, in fact in one of his first public utterances on war issues, Colonel Lindbergh implied disloyalty on the part of the press and disseminated in America the same kind of vicious propaganda about the attitude of American newspapers as has been assiduously spread by the Nazi press bureaus. But two wrongs do not make a right. And because Colonel Lindbergh adopted the Nazi psychology of casting discredit on a press which disagreed with him was no reason for the President of the United States to assist in developing a quasi-martyr status for the noted flier.

There is, on the other hand, plenty of precedent for letting reserve officers say what they please on public questions in time of peace though in wartime it would not be allowed. Retired army and naval officers have recently been conspicuous in the public prints discussing war issues. None, however, has been as outspoken in his disagreement with the government as has Colonel Lindbergh.

Under the American system, anybody can say what he pleases on the merits of a public question. In Germany, no reserve officer and no private citizen would be permitted to speak out as plainly against the government as Colonel Lindbergh is permitted to do.

What most Americans want is a democracy which will protect Colonel Lindbergh in his right to disagree. For it is Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, who once defined freedom of speech as "freedom for the thought we hate."

Millions of Americans, no doubt, are impatient with Colonel Lindbergh and some of them will mistakenly argue that he ought to be muzzled, but this is an erroneous

When I asked my good friend Rastus if he'd ever really heard what was meant by "matrimony"—

Just the meaning of the word: Rastus scratched his head and answered:

There goes the most talked of man in town.

Well, that's indeed a surprise to me, who talks about him?

He does!

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 29—Gabriel Richard returned to New York Friday after spending two days at his Shokan place. The Richard summer home is the former Emma Every property along the state road.

Paul C. James made a trip to Poughkeepsie last week.

Callers in the village Sunday included Hannibal Ford, who has a summer home near High Point. Mr. Ford is currently interested in securing data about local connections of the Ford family.

Mrs. Leo Roe of Kingston was a caller Wednesday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Osterhout.

Several local farmers have sown their oats. Although the dry spell made possible an early sowing, the conditions for sprouting were not so good.

Mrs. E. Hanson of Ruby, visited her Shokan property Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Matland returned to New York Saturday after having spent a pleasant week with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Matland.

A marriage of April 29, 1856, was that of Elizabeth Pettit of Kingston to James Wensley of New York city. Elder Jacob Winchell of the Olive and Hurley Baptist Church officiated at the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Robert B. Peck of New York arrived here Thursday for a vacation sojourn at the Peck summer home near Tice TenEyck Mountain.

Mrs. Bert Jones of Kingston was a Shokan caller Sunday. Mrs. Jones had made a call on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whittle of the Temple's Pond section of Hurley.

Mrs. Jones reports that her son is getting along well in the navy and is still in Hawaii where he has been stationed for the past several years.

David Hollander is among the early birds in planting a garden this season. The young man, though fresh from the city, hopes to raise a lot of vegetables.

William Tueling, Jr., spent Sunday at home. Young Tueling holds an inspectors job at the De-Laval Poughkeepsie plant where Sperry gyroscopic parts are being turned out for defense purposes.

Local friends of Mrs. Levi Jensen report that Mrs. Jensen is getting along well at the Benedictine Sanitarium where she is a patient.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDEMER

YESTERDAY: Eileen Gardner has at last made the great decision. She has had a success singing on a little Colorado radio station, but staying with that job means enduring the importunities of Jordan Estill, who wants to marry her. And going east with Molly Flanagan means taking a big chance for a big job—and the possibility of finding Martin, whom she has met only once, and would give everything she has to meet again. So she will go.

Chapter 13 New York

THE interview with Jordan, which she had tried to escape, was hard.

"You're hard. You're unfeeling. You care for nothing but climbing to the top," he accused her; his ordinary, rather shy calm broken to tatters. "You love me—but you love career more. You'd rather trample down all your own human feelings and stand and sing into a little piece of tin and have applause, than have anything real—wifehood, motherhood, normal human contacts."

She stared at him. She had somehow supposed that her real reason for going to New York was written across her forehead in gilt letters. And here was Jordan lecturing her for being a hard career girl! She wanted to laugh—and then she felt like crying, a little. So she did neither one.

She said, more sharply than she meant, "You're like all the rest of the men in the world. You think because I want to do something else more than marry you, that it applies to all the other men there are."

He looked at her for a moment as if she were speaking in a strange language.

"You mean—you mean you want to find somebody who has more than I have—who can give you more than I can give you?"

There was no way of explaining. Nevertheless she tried once more.

"No, Jordan. It's just that, while I don't love you enough to marry you, I might love some other man enough."

"You do love me," he said. "You love me, only you don't know it, you have some crazy idea in your head from the movies. I've gone round together and he's good friends, we've been close, we've been genial, and you've known I've loved you. I've seen your attitude to me. You couldn't have been my pal—my girl—all this time without really loving me. You think you're the kind that can have some impossible emotion, go off the deep end, you're not. You aren't that kind. I tell you, you're a career woman."

He had, she saw, an image of her in his mind that no amount of argument on her part would turn into a truer one. He wanted her like that—cool to him because she could not be anything else to anyone else.

She tried once more.

"But if I think I am, Jordan, it is the same as if it were true. You'll have to let me find out for myself."

Unfortunately he snapped at this.

"That means there's a good chance still. All right, darling. I'll wait. His eyes were another thing behind the glasses. "I'll wait forever. I know you'll come back to me. If you don't—well, I'll come to you."

They were back at Jerry's, leaning to each other across one of the little glass tables. She dropped her head. There was no use arguing.

Pageant Of Light

THE drive was fun. Molly had made it before. Eileen never had. They stopped at tourist camps, mostly, but once or twice they went to the car and one glorious night when it was that or a rainstorm outdoors—spent good money on a hotel in Kansas. And eventually they were in New York State. Buffalo—Utica—Albany—the Albany Post Road, the Cross County Parkway, the Bronx Parkway sliding invisibly into the Sawmill River and Henry Hudson Parkways.

Finally, a last toll bridge, and the rattling, stanch little car with its piled luggage and two excited girls was sliding down along the Hudson River one early September evening, between the tall apartment houses of Riverside Drive, and the river and the ships with the Palisades, all electric signs and far-off romantic whistles.

"Oh, Molly, the lights! It's like a pageant!" Eileen gasped. Molly, fortunately, was driving. Eileen's eyes focused with excitement on the starry strings, on the apartments with their hundreds of lighted windows, turned eagerly back again to the signs that winked off and on forever.

"Well, of course—" Molly laughed and was a little motherly—"I've been watching that sugar sign blink for quite a while. I used to have a boy friend that was nuts on sitting on a Riverside bench and watching it."

"Molly?"

"What—what sort of people live on Riverside Drive?"

"What sort? Well—all sorts. Nice. But not, in a majority, socialites, and not very many."

Molly's keen amused blue eyes fixed Eileen—"of the sort of playboys who cable from New Zealand just to say 'how's tricks.' You'll find them farther east, old gal."

ing took place at the home of Mrs. Santi Nadal.

Eugene McCafferty of New York was at his mountain road place last week.

Mrs. C. N. Foster of Englewood, N. J., called on friends here Thursday. The Foster summer home is the old Henry Satterley place on the Bocieville hill road.

Other callers on Thursday included Mrs. C. Gustafson, who has charge of Red Cross relief sewing on the west side of the reservoir.

William Loos of Rockaway spent Sunday night at the camp of his Eileen colored.

"I didn't—" she began to say, and stopped, because she had "Cheer up, my sweet," Molly continued. She ran down the ramp at Fifty-seventh Street. "We're heading to his hideout right now. Swank, that's me." She whisked the car expertly between thundering trucks and whizzing sedans east on Fifty-seventh and took a long breath of relaxation. "Gosh, that's a corner—when you've been playing round desert trails, where the worst you can find is a couple Weigands."

"But Molly, for heaven's sake, you're not taking an apartment east."

"There's east and east," Molly said. "I don't know whether I told you our plans about the flower shop. We've got a chance for a place on Third Avenue, in the Fifties. Just about perfect, if you ask me: Near enough to Park and the smart cross-street apartments so that people who want flowers cheap can slide out and get them. You wouldn't think how many people that get their names in the society columns and the night-club list want to buy things cheap, from delicatessen to posies."

She drove expertly on.

By the next night she and Eileen were as settled into New York as though they had always belonged there.

Molly knew her neighborhood. Without much trouble the girls found a fourth-story apartment in a brownstone house, on the edge of the better-class tenements, but also not too far from the place where the flower shop, that goal of Molly's ambitions, was to be.

Molly left Eileen to settle in. It felt a little cramped after the spacious, sunlit rooms in the white apartment house in Denver.

You climbed three flights of stairs. There was a narrow slip of a bedroom for one of them; a living room which the other would have to use; a bath between old rooms, lighted by a skylight; there was a kitchenette which was far from being roomy enough. It was furnished rather gloomily and casually; a cot bed in one room, a dayvenport in the other, various sorts of chairs and draperies that Eileen decided to change whether it proved extravagant or not.

But, standing at the fire window, she could see the East River. The boats went up and down, lighted and lovely. The stars showed, in a scrap of sky beyond. Eileen had always lived inland, and this was wonderful.

All The Chances

NEW YORK. All the chances in the world. Chances for a bright, pretty, well-trained girl who had always had chances hurled at her. Big radio networks. Big office buildings. And, somewhere, sometime, a gay, swift-voiced, gray-eyed man calling her or wiring her after a broadcast; or perhaps the same man coming in to interview one of the big men in an office where she was the smart, efficient secretary or even office manager. And seeing her, in her low-cut satin, moving away from the mike; or in the junior partner's office, fresh from dictation in her smart office frock, poised and alert and charmingly capable. . . .

She was a romantic idiot, she told herself, moving hastily away from the window, and shutting down the sash, so that the dust smelt sharply flying from the curtains. She began to sing to herself as she moved round the shabby room rearranging the furniture.

Molly shot in, unbreathed from the stairs, full of excitement.

"Was it time I got home?" she demanded rhetorically. "What do you suppose was happening?" She whisked her hat and coat methodically off, and had them hung in the little closet.

"I was just in time. That dope of a Ris had decided that it was too much of a risk to take out notes to swing his half of the shops. And his brother Nick says, 'Well, Molly, you know how he is. I couldn't swing it alone. I sure am grateful to you.' Nick says, 'You're the only person I know that can build a fire under Ris.'"

"How did you come to know Ris and Nick?" Eileen inquired curiously.

"Went to school with them. Pop and Mom split up when we were kids; Pop went to New York and took two of us along," Molly explained casually. "After a while he went back to Plute, but by that time I was sort of holed-in in the big city. Once you get used to it you hate to leave. What shall we do, go out or get something to eat? Does the gas ring work?"

She investigated, found it did, and they decided on getting something in. Eileen thought with a certain amusement of Molly, and her height of ambition—cashier in a delicatessen, wife to a small florist.

Well, being happy was what counted, after all. And if happiness, to you, meant a dreamy-eyed young Greek in an ill-fitting dress coat who had to be driven into earning his living, instead of a laughing gray-eyed man in flying clothes, well, it was just the way you felt.

Eileen had money enough to carry her a while, as she looked for work. Next morning, on the tide of excitement at living in New York, she took her letters of introduction and started out to storm the city.

Proposals Are Vetoed

Albany, N. Y., April 28 (AP) — Governor Lehman has disapproved five of six proposals for revising the 1940 pari-mutuel law. They were the result of a year's study of the machine-betting system by a legislative committee. The only remaining bill, which would make bribery of jockeys a felony, and continuation of the committee for another year waited the governor's action. The committee, headed by Republican Assemblyman Norman F. Penny, Nassau county, was appointed simultaneously with enactment of the year-old betting law to observe its operation. The study was made under a $15,000 appropriation. Continuation of the committee depends on Lehman's disposal of an appropriation voted by the 1941 legislature.

Dictionaries, here's a new word—HYDRO-FORMING!

Americans, here's an entirely new way of making gasoline—destined to give a new definition to power!

Increased Volatility Makes Better Road Octane!

Hydro-formed American Gas is more volatile, more aromatic, more easily vaporized. Its anti-knock constituents do not remain in a liquid state as in the average conventional gasolines, but become vaporized—distributed more evenly and impartially to all cylinders alike.

Official results of road tests by Industry Committees show that conventional gasolines, on the average, lose octanes on the road. Hydro-formed American Gas actually gains them—surpassing laboratory figures. And it's road octane that counts, not laboratory ratings!

Hydro-formed AMERICAN GAS Still At Regular Gas Price!

You don't have to be a chemist to realize the tremendous importance of this discovery, pioneered by the American Oil Company. Yet in spite of all these amazing improvements—in spite of the new power now available, this latest discovery of gasoline chemistry still sells at regular gas price!

Famous AMOCO-GAS

Now Hydro-formed, Too!

The new Hydro-forming process has also been applied to Amoco-Gas, the original special motor fuel, which likewise moves forward and upward to an all-time high in quality and efficiency.

A new and greater source of power—a new and greater motoring pleasure—a thrilling experience—all these await you in Hydro-formed American Gas and Amoco-Gas.

© American Oil Company

In the modern gun, with today's propellant powders, greater power is achieved because the flame is controlled—pressure is built up behind the shell. The old cannon wasted power in violent, uncontrolled explosion.

For Hydro-formed American Gas solves the problem in an entirely new manner, releasing more power because it burns in a different way.

Now Comes Flame Control—Combustion Control!

Burning gasoline vapor is the source of engine power. How it burns tells how much will be used, and how much wasted.

Old-fashioned gasolines burn with an explosive, violent shock, and much of the power is lost in wasteful detonation. But if that flame—combustion—can be controlled, we achieve power with less violent shock—usable driving power, not wasted power.

This is exactly what FLAME CONTROL accomplishes—now attained in Hydro-formed American Gas! Combustion IS controlled. We have power—sustained, increasing, e-x-p-a-n-d-i-n-g pressure on the pistons—dynamic thrust that reaches for more of the potential energy in every atom of gasoline. But shock is greatly reduced.

Flame Control Means Cushioned Power!

As violent, detonating shock is cut down, Cushioned Power replaces it. We retain all the energy of the combustion, yet we have a soft, sustained, cushioned surge of power. Motors are s-m-o-o-t-h, obedient, yet thoroughly alive with action. Destructive blows on bearings and other delicate motor parts are hushed, and in their place comes a satin-soft f-l-o-w of power.

Still at REGULAR gas price!

Now try the latest triumph of gasoline science—New Hydro-formed AMERICAN GAS

another discovery pioneered by the American Oil Co.

Who put them there?

BY NORMAN CHANDLER, CHAIRMAN, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS COMMITTEE

DICTATORS are in the doghouse, as far as America is concerned. And FREEDOM OF SPEECH in America put them there!

If a hundred fearless American newspaper publishers were given the chance to produce and circulate newspapers—OUR KIND OF NEWSPAPERS—in Germany, Hitler wouldn't last a month in his own country. Fifty could do the trick in Italy. And ten might upset Stalin.

You see, the first thing that happens when a GOVERNMENT wants to take over the liberties of the people is to suppress the newspapers, shut off criticism and banish free discussion.

NOW LET'S LOOK AT THE JOB of our newspapers right here in America. Suppose, for a moment, we decided that, in the interest of national unity, we should shut off all criticism or unfavorable news about OUR government.

How long do you think our freedom would last? Any crook in office could do as he pleased—rob the treasury, sabotage national defense, bungle his job, ruin the country. And how would YOU know about it if there couldn't be any BAD news?

How would the honest public servant rally public support to back his efforts if

HIS criticism and opinions could not be brought to you?

REMEMBER, it is always GOVERNMENT that enslaves men—either by its own acts or by tolerating the acts of rogues. And one of the things YOU, freedom-loving Americans, have put BEYOND EVEN THE SUPREME COURT is FREEDOM of speech and thought. Keep it there.

Watch that it isn't taken from you by subterfuge or indirection.

Certain well-meaning but misguided people have all too recently suggested that the American press should, to a man, "Support the government," meaning the party in power at the moment. God forbid! That happens only in a dictatorship. And when it happens, dictatorship inevitably comes.

What we all want our press to do is to support democracy—the first principal of which is the freedom and dignity and rights of the individual.

And if the lowest or the highest public servant needs his deeds, good or bad, reported, let's hope the American press will go on doing the reporting.

Over 300 leading newspaper publishers join together to bring you this weekly message about the function of the press in a free nation. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Ave., New York.

Queens Area Has New Bus Strike

Garage Men and Drivers Quit for More Pay

New York, April 29 (AP)—The third bus transportation strike in New York city this year was called today when 150 garage men and bus drivers of Jamaica Buses, Inc., walked out, affecting 65 buses serving 20,000 Queens residents.

No buses rolled over the company's three lines to and from Jamaica and a dozen Queens communities. One route connected Jamaica and Belmont Park, another serviced the terminal and Ozone Park and the third served Jamaica commuters through Inwood, Lawrence, Cedarhurst and Far Rockaway.

The walkout was called by Local 100 of the Transport Workers Union (C.I.O.). A spokesman for the strike committee said the company had failed to act on the committee's requests for wage increases and "adjudication of grievances."

Harold J. Cloutman, company counsel, said the company had offered a 10 per cent wage increase for drivers and an 11 to 15 per cent increase for garagemen, provided the union pledged itself not to make further demands on expiration of the present three-year contract on Oct. 23. Cloutman said the union refused the company's offer.

Cloutman said the bus drivers now averaged 70 cents an hour and the "inside men"—garage men—55 cents an hour.

The walk out was called under the leadership of Michael J. Quill, TWU international president who two months ago led a walkout of 3,500 drivers making 95 per cent of the buses in Manhattan. The strike was settled after 12 days when the two major bus lines and the union agreed to arbitrate wages.

Last February a one-day strike on the north shore of Queens was settled after the North Shore Bus Company and the Amalgamated Association of Street Car, Electric Railway and Motor Company Employees of America (A.F.L.) agreed on wages, vacations and reporting time.

LEWIS SPEAKS HIS PIECE

President John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers of America looked like this when he told the senate defense investigating committee in Washington that "the tail of the industry figuratively has been wagging the dog," referring to the soft coal dispute which has kept mines in the eight-state Appalachian area closed since April 1.

Lewis told the committee emphatically that the mine workers were determined to do away with the 40-cent wage differential that southern mine operators have had.

Endorsement Expected

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce was expected today to endorse an emergency federal fiscal policy of greatly increased taxes, drastic economies in non-defense expenditures, and sale of government bonds direct to the public, where possible, instead of to banks.

Although informed officials forecast that the statement of the chamber's attitude on taxation would be phrased in general terms, they indicated that it would give substantial, though indirect, support to the treasury's plan to raise at least $3,000,000,000 in new revenues by boosting income and excise rates and adding a variety of new levies.

Men Reported Safe

Rome, April 29 (AP)—The newspaper Il Messaggero said today its correspondent in Belgrade had been informed that Donald Ian Campbell, British minister to Yugoslavia; Colonel C. S. Clark, British military attaché, and Ray Brock, war correspondent of the New York Times, had been taken aboard an Italian torpedo boat when they attempted to leave the Dalmatian coast on a steamer bound for Crete. The dispatch did not say where the men were now.

Trading at Low Level on Monday

Price Fluctuations Were Narrow Until Closing

Trading was at a low level on the Stock Exchange Monday, with total of 310,810 shares well below the recent average. Price fluctuations were narrow, with the general trend upward. Activity and prices were best in the last hour of trading, when 110,000 shares changed hands. Moderate gains were registered in the Dow-Jones averages. The industrials were up .20 for the day, closing at 116.63; rails gained .15, to 28.37, but utilities edged off slightly, .05 point, to 18.07.

Southern Pacific led the list of 15 most active stock and gained 1/4 in turnover of 7,700 shares. U. S. Steel was second, up 1/8. Commenting on the fact that steel made a relatively better showing despite news from the industry and delay in securing coke, one writer says that the situation is becoming so serious that, in the opinion of some observers, "The President will not long be able to postpone dealing with labor leaders in a manner similar to that which he would employ were business men at fault."

In the commodity markets grains and cotton lead a moderate upturn in staples. The Dow-Jones futures index again showed a small gain, up .16 point. Wheat advanced 1/4 to one cent a bushel and cotton was unchanged to five points higher. American Sugar Refining bought 26,000 bags of Puerto Rico raws at 3.30 cents a pound, unchanged from last reported spot business. There was a rally in silk futures, up as much as 5 1/2 cents from the lows at one time, as Japan's Silk Control decided to cut 1941-42 silk production 20 per cent.

Effect of the armament program on earnings is indicated in report of the Savage Arms Co., showing net earnings for the quarter ended March 31, after allowance for depreciation, taxes, etc., of $501,166, or $2.99 a common share. Compares with net of $23,417 or 14 cents a share in the same quarter in 1940.

More than half of the 20,000 "white collar" workers of U. S. Steel have received pay increases in line with the 10 cents an hour wage boost for hourly rate workers. Affects those earnings up to $4,000 a year.

Steel output this week is at the rate of 94.3 per cent of capacity, a drop of 1.7 points from a week ago. A month ago rate was 99.2 per cent.

President Hartford of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., announced yesterday that the company's eastern division will inaugurate a five-day work week for its store employees, beginning May 12. Plan will affect 7,000 workers in New York city and vicinity. Weekly salaries will remain the same as for the present six-day fifty-four hour week. Stores will continue to be open six days a week.

Deaf Persons Learn to Hear Through Toss, Teeth

Through your toes, your teeth, or even your funny bone, you can learn to hear.

And a score of men and women afflicted with deafness had proved that at the University of Southern California, where they were "guests" at the nation's first class in rehabilitation of the hard of hearing.

Under the direction of Dr. B. V. Markovitch, noted psychologist and scientist, they learned to use a scientific mechanism known as the Phipps unit, which transmits sounds on the principle of bone induction.

"Through development of the ether senses we teach the various methods by which the deaf can adjust themselves to their condition and be compensated for their weak hearing," said Dr. Markovitch, inventor of the technique of using motion pictures to aid in teaching lip reading.

As an expert on hearing, the professor noted that 80 per cent of the soldier and civilian casualties in bomb-bombard cities suffer either total or partial loss of hearing from the shattering concussion.

"That's why our work even has its national defense side," he explained. "Should a similar situation come to pass here, we would be able to alleviate suffering by teaching the war deaf literally to feel in their mouths what others say to them—even though they cannot hear."

private air mail contracts and putting the mail in army planes, on grounds it would be harmful to American aviation.

Lindbergh's action in releasing a telegram brought a rebuke at the time from a presidential secretary.

Campbell's Reassurance

In an apparent reply to Charles A. Lindbergh, the United States was assured today by Sir Gerald Campbell, British minister, that Great Britain would not make a "negotiated, false, inconclusive peace."

Sir Gerald did not mention Lindbergh by name but last night, in a speech to the International Chamber of Commerce, quoted from the flier's address before an American First Committee mass meeting in New York.

He branded as "untrue" Lindbergh's charges that Britain promised various nations armed assistance she could not send, and "misinformed them." He admitted military blunders might have been made but pointed out that "so was the charge of the light brigade at Balalaica, and we all learned at school how proud the British army and the people were of the Light Brigade."

Lindbergh said "it is now obvious that England is losing the war."

Sir Gerald spoke shortly after Lindbergh announced in New York he was resigning his commission as a colonel in the air corps because of criticism by President Roosevelt of the flier's recent speeches.

The letter of resignation had not reached the White House, Secretary Stephen Early said, at the time it was made public.

NOTICE TO WAIVING DEPOSITORS OF THE FORMER NATIONAL ULSTER COUNTY BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, KINGSTON, NEW YORK.

Payment of the final liquidating dividend will be made at the offices of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston, New York, commencing May 12th, 1941.

Waiving Depositors must bring their participation certificates since under the practice prevailing and the Trust Agreement these certificates must be stamped, "Cancelled. Final liquidating dividend" and surrendered to the official representative of the Trustees before payment of this dividend can be made.

This is the sixth and final liquidating dividend, and will be for 3% of the amount waived as shown upon each participation certificate.

The Trustees hold in accounts for the first to the fifth dividend inclusive, the total approximate sum of $12,000.00 by reason of the fact that persons holding participation certificates have not submitted the same as each dividend was declared. Payments on these certificates will be made at any time upon presentation of the certificates.

They're Agin' It!

AP Feature Service

Always there have been crusaders—people willing to endure ridicule, assault, even death in defense of their principles. Eventually many of those who stuck it out became honored in their own and other lands. This is one thing that keeps new crusaders coming up. Here are five who at times have braved scorn for causes not universally popular—but they are still at it.

Against Religion

Charles Smith, brisk, keen-eyed president of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism, is no arm-chair theorist.

He has been as much danger as any union organizer—or missionary. In 1928 the Association sent him to Arkansas to campaign against a bill in the legislature to forbid the teaching of evolution in public schools.

He was thrown into jail in Little Rock when he opened headquarters. Released, he reopened his headquarters, was nearly mobbed before he was rescued by police.

Smith opposes religion because, he says, there is no proof of the existence of God, and if there were a God he would not allow suffering or crime. He says churches are parasites on civilization.

Against Liquor

A kindly, silver-haired old gentleman named George W. Crabbe (he's general secretary of the Anti-Saloon League of America) has been fighting in the cause of temperance all his life.

He was a fire-eater in 1906, when he became attorney for the Ohio Anti-Saloon League. Now he's more gentle, but his jaw firms when he outlines the work his organization has ahead.

A recent advisory referendum in South Carolina showed the people wanted the state's liquor license law repealed. Crabbe says that this, "coupled with local option gains in other states, reflects the general opinion that something must be done about it."

"Moreover," he adds, "restrictions against liquor must be made a vital part of defense plans."

Against Profanity

Roland D. Sawyer is a stern-eyed Congregational minister who believes that, aside from being irrevocable, profanity "shows lack of refinement and slow mentality."

He quotes Ralph Waldo Emerson's saying: "Profanity should be seldom used and should be reserved for occasions which demand rare emphasis."

Mr. Sawyer, who recently retired from the Massachusetts legislature after 27 years, organized the Anti-Profanity League in 1902 at Hanson, Mass. The next year 12,000 members attended a mass meeting in Boston.

The league has no paid workers. Mr. Sawyer believes that the fact that it now has 34,000 members in all parts of the world "shows how deeply Christian people feel hurt by the prevalent profanity which has become a sad habit with so many."

Against Smoking

In 1909 Dr. Charles Pease persuaded the New York City council to forbid smoking in subways. He is an anti-tobacco crusader, but in this case his point was simply that people who don't smoke shouldn't have to endure tobacco fumes.

He says that "the tobacco people fought hard... I received many letters threatening my life. Undertakers were sent to my home... But I cannot be frightened in that way."

The next year Dr. Pease organized the Non-Smokers' Protective League and in 1911 obtained passage of an ordinance forbidding smoking in elevated and surface cars.

Now 86 years old, dry-voiced Dr. Pease is fighting for laws to ban smoking in any public or semi-public place.

Against Executions

Motherly, gray-haired Dr. Miriam Van Waters has learned about crime and punishment in her job as superintendent of the Massachusetts Reformatory for Women.

She believes that crime is never prevented by fear of punishment—even the death penalty. This belief brought her into the American League to Abolish Capital Punishment, of which she now is president.

Dr. Van Waters thinks capital punishment is bad also because it is unchristian and degrading to the community, and because under it innocent persons may be mistaken for guilty.

HIGHLAND

W.C.T.U. Meets

Highland, April 29 — As the Spring W. C. T. U. Institute opened in Ellenville, April 23, President Mrs. Emma Carpenter spoke of meeting there May 16, 1934 and of the tree planted and dedicated that day to Mrs. Ella Boole, who was Institute leader. She is now acting World president. In this meeting in Hunt Memorial hall, Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin was on the platform. Mrs. Colvin spoke at each session, and in the evening gave an address, "National Defense Endangered by Alcohol."

Mrs. Eliza Keats Young led a period of worship. The Union Signal made a sales talk for itself as Mrs. James R. Swift reviewed one number and a demonstration she conducted proved the worth of W. C. T. U. literature for information for both members and outsiders. Other reports showed how routine work could accomplish vital things. One of the reports was a paper written by Miss Clara Saulpaugh of Kingston. Her paper "Our Responsibility to American Youth" was read by Mrs. Whinston of Kingston.

"How to Get Rid of Liquor in My Town" was the subject before an interesting forum. Mr. Strevel, principal of the high school, suggested what schools can do. Mr. Strevel contended that education is not enough. To that must be added character training which gives moral responsibility and the courage to refuse the offered drink because of the influence on companions.

Mrs. TerBush, president of Ellenville Union, turned from what women's organizations can do to what a mother in her home should do to train her children to understand and feel that the use of alcohol in drinking means the waste of something fine in character, and a loss of pride and self-respect.

H. Westlake Coons showed that the business man could do little unless the support of the public would uphold his stand for temperance.

Young people had a share in the program. After school, a group of boys and girls told why alcohol would hinder the engineer, the aviator, the athlete, the operators of power machinery, and by their refusal to drink would contribute success in the industrial world. As part of the evening program, the Junior choir of the Ellenville Reformed Church, under the direction of Mrs. James Lightcap, brought an anthem adapted to young voices.

Mrs. Colvin closed her evening address with a plea for an offering for the October convention.

An executive session will be held in Kingston May 19 to begin the first steps in planning for the State convention to be held in Kingston.

Y.M.C.A. Fund Is $1,439; Secretary Addresses Workers

With 300 persons contributing $1,439 in cash and pledges the annual budget drive of the local Y. M. C. A. got off to a flying start at the opening report meeting of the campaign workers on Monday evening which was marked by enthusiasm and determination that the drive should go over the top.

The speaker of the evening was Secretary George Goodfellow of the "Y" who spoke briefly of the activities of the association and what it was trying to accomplish in Kingston for the youth of the city.

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin, general chairman of the drive, presided at the dinner meeting.

The first reports of the workers made last night follow:

Division 1, the Rev. F. B. Seeley, 56 pledges totaling $266.

Division 2, Arthur L. Colligan, 69 pledges totaling $427.

Division 3, Morris Samter, 113 pledges totaling $463.50.

Division 4, Pratt Boice, 62 pledges totaling $282.50.

Grand total, 300 pledges totaling $1,439.

The initial gift committee did not submit a report at the opening meeting, but is expected to submit a report later in the campaign.

General Chairman Cashin expressed satisfaction over the first reports and urged the workers to continue the campaign with the determination that it would go over the top. There was no reason why the amount needed should not be raised, he said.

Goodfellow Speaks

Secretary Goodfellow gave an interesting talk to the workers. He recalled that he had been fortunate enough to be present in Germany when the Hitler movement was rising to power and he was also in France shortly afterward.

He said that in Germany he found the young men getting up early in the morning and drilling. That was why Germany went ahead behind the wrong leader, while in France he found the youth sitting around doing nothing, that was why France was unprepared and went down to defeat.

The lesson he drew from comparing the activities of Germany and France before the present World War was that in order to make democracy work in this country it was necessary to give the young men of the city an opportunity to do some constructive work. He recalled being at a recent meeting where an election of officers was being held. Several young men were placed in nomination for the presidency. All were capable of handling the job but all declined, passing the job on to an older man.

We should see to it that the youth are given an opportunity of taking part in our government, in our churches and in our institutions such as the "Y," said Secretary Goodfellow. He added you don't draw leaders fullfledged out of a package wrapped in cellophane, the leaders are the men who have been trained to accept responsibility from the time they were able to think and do for themselves.

The "Y," he said had a big job ahead of it and it was trying to meet the needs of the youth of the city, and to serve the entire city. He called attention to the recent formation of a fish and game club for the boys of the city; and that there was an active aviation club that met weekly in the building.

"All that I ask," said Secretary Goodfellow, "is that you men and women go out and raise the funds needed to put the 'Y' program in action in Kingston."

The American flag awarded to the division reporting the largest number of pledges was awarded to Division No. 3, in charge of Morris Samter, which reported 113 pledges that night.

The next report meeting will be Wednesday evening when an out of town speaker will address the workers.

MAN VERSUS BEAST AND IT'S A DRAW

When this picture was snapped, Ziggy, six-ton elephant in Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, had his keeper George Lewis, pinned to the ground between his tusks, but a few seconds later, Lewis struggled upward far enough to smack Ziggy in the eye with his fist. The elephant then raised up a bit and Lewis rolled to "cool him off."

Youth Enters Plea And Is Extended Chance by Court

At a short session of County Court Monday afternoon sentence was pronounced on one defendant and pleading was received in another case following opening of a sealed indictment.

Russell Whitbeck, 20, pleaded guilty to unlawful entry, through his attorney, Earl Houghtaling, who asked leniency on the ground that his client had been intoxicated at the time the crime was committed, was a steady and dependable worker and had recently secured a better position at an advance in pay.

Judge Conway said that in the light of findings by Probation Officer Jensen and the plea of Attorney Houghtaling, he was inclined to show leniency. He imposed a sentence of one year in the Ulster county jail, but suspended execution of the sentence during good behavior, Whitbeck to report to the probation officer.

Joseph W. Sullivan appeared with his attorney, Peter H. Harp, and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging grand larceny, the crime alleged to have been committed on August 3, 1940. Bail of $1,500 was continued and the attorney was given 20 days to make motions. A check in the amount of over $1,000, given to the Broadway Garage for a Pontiac, the check being returned because of insufficient funds, was at the bottom of Sullivan's trouble.

Court adjourned to Wednesday at 10 a. m.

GLAMOUR LADY

Want Secret of Perpetual Motion? Ask Mrs. Black

By SIGRID ARNE

AP Feature Service Writer
Washington (AP)—Mrs. Hugo L. Black probably has poured after-dinner coffee for more of this town's recent history-makers than any other hostess in the country—except Mrs. Roosevelt.

It was around the Black dinner table that a 50-hour work-week was first threshed out. (Justice Black was still in the Senate.) The bill emerged as the wage-hour law. At the same table there was talk of ship subsidies, the holding company act, the reorganization bill, the Wagner act.

It was Mrs. Black's delicate humor that kept the talkers relaxed. Typically, the dinner wasn't large. The Blacks never give come-one, come-all receptions. They invite people who can talk.

Senate Wife at 27

Naturally, there are dozens of people who would like to be on their guest lists. That would surprise Mrs. Black. She's been seriously, dead-impressed with herself in Washington only once.

That was in 1927. Black had just been elected to the senate from Alabama. She was a slim, pretty 27. They were invited to a dinner. When they were seated Mrs. Black looked down the table, and there seated below her, was an admiral.

Later she whispered, in an awed tone, to her husband, "Just think. Outranking an admiral!"

"Well, what of it?" she said. "In 1918 I was a third-class yeomanette in the navy. The lowest thing possible."

Gallery Fan

But even when she talks that way, her blue eyes dance. She's still slim. Her prematurely white hair is a stunning halo. She has such a gentle, southern way of talking that she's a little startling when she helps out a conversational fumbler like this—

"Oh, that happened during the last Huey Long filibuster. The senate sat 'til after two that night." She remembered an incident for six years. It happens time and again.

The senate gallery has been better than a matinee to her. But the first dose was terrible.

"She had gone to hear her husband make his first speech, buying a new dress for the occasion. "After all, they get out bands for senators' back home," she explains.

Mrs. Hugo L. Black

Sculpture, story writing, motherhood; some day a college degree.

A Full Dose

She looked down at the senate floor to see her husband talking to exactly four men. The others had walked out. She couldn't take it. She started out but the old doorman stopped her with, "Anything wrong, Miss?"

"Oh," she gulped, "I'm just a little nervous."

"Sure," comforted the doorman. "These new senators are always bawling."

But it wasn't long before senators flocked to hear Black talk. He was riding the crest when the Roosevelt reform legislation began. His dry voice and incisive sentences brought bellows from opponents. Mrs. Black watched most of it from the gallery. And when lunchtime came the senator slipped out to lunch with his wife. It was common to see them strolling and laughing across capitol plaza like a pair of campus romancers. Even Black's enemies chuckled.

Back to School

Life has been pretty full for the lady. She has two sons, also dinners out, dinners in, the concerts. But as the sons grew, Mrs.

Black decided to get the college degree she chucked to join the navy back in 1918. She registered at American university for a stiff course in constitutional law.

Then the stork announced his projected third arrival. But Mrs. Black kept on. She took the first exam and passed it on a hot June day. Three months later a daughter, Josephine (Jo-Jo) was born. Her friends chuckled and said: "So this is higher education."

Mrs. Black intends to get that degree if she's a dear old lady of 85 when it happens. Her two boys managed to contribute to life's complications. She remembers the time young Hugo came home to announce he was in the school play. She swelled with pride. But she was so busy two weeks went by before she realized, with a chill, that she hadn't heard him practicing his "lines." She asked him about it.

"Oh, don't worry, mother," he comforted. "I'm playing the hind legs of a horse."

Settling Down

This last year—since the supreme court post is a lifetime appointment—the Blacks found themselves a house they want to keep. It's a Colonial red brick—built in 1786—that looks out over the Potomac in Alexandria, Va. It has twelve-foot ceilings, crystal chandeliers, and the beginning of a collection of old mahogany. Mrs. Black finds each piece herself driving around Virginia. She says she hasn't found the one piece she wants yet—the one "you boast about."

Last year she took a course in sculpture at the Phillips gallery. Just registered as "Mrs. H. L. Black." There was quite a ripple when the other students found out which "H. L."

Somehow, in the rush, she also has found time during afternoons to collect a wonderful group of rejection slips from editors. They are for short stories never shown to the family. She says she finally dropped her ambition to be published and be content with a personal letter from an editor. She finally got it. It's framed and hangs on the study wall. It says, "You write well. But your plots are trite."

Surprising Meanings In Mysterious Dream Images

Have You Ever Dreamed This?

Strange dreams that leave you puzzled? Outside the window, a man whom you know gazes at you with wide, staring eyes—WHY?

Like all dreams this has a definite meaning. In queer symbols your dream mind expresses emotions you may have concealed—even from yourself—in waking life.

The friend gazing at you? Deep down you may fear he is critical of you, a fear that is affecting you more than you realize.

But if you dream you are peering at him, you are suspicious, asking yourself, "Can I trust him?"

When you take them seriously, your dreams often throw a helpful light on disturbing problems. Some dreams are real eye-openers. A dream of a screen? A hint of hope, fulfillment, in sex dreams, "prophetic" dreams. Tells what it means when you dream of being naked in public, of flying, feeling pain.

Other puzzling dreams make sense when you understand their symbols.

In our 32-page booklet, a well-known psychologist explains many common symbols in dreams of fear, hope, fulfillment; in sex dreams, "prophetic" dreams. Tells what it means when you dream of being naked in public, of flying, feeling pain.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of THE MEANING OF DREAMS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

A tablespoon of chutney sauce put into 1/2 cup mayonnaise makes a delightful new dressing for lettuce or other vegetable salads.

Little pickled onions may be enticing partners for baked or boiled ham or roast pork or veal.

Remember to sift flour once before measuring it.

Always keep spices tightly covered and stored away from heat.

Youthful Style Has Gay Yoke

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9709

There's a fresh sparkling, YOUNG air to this little frock that matches this gayest of seasons. It's Pattern 9709—a Marian Martin design. Crowning glory of the whole style is that charmingly shaped yoke with its scalloped lower edge. You may show it off in snowy white organdy or pique or let it match the dress, and do edge it with a froth of lace. Unusual softness through the bustline is created by the curved full-cut bodice sections that are gathered-in above the waist. Each center bodice panel forms one smooth piece with a side-front skirt section. Edge the short sleeves with lace and add a tie belt to this light-hearted and flattering frock.

Pattern 9709 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric, 1/4 yard contrast and 2 1/4 yards lace edging.

Deputy Gets the Woman Mad, Beats Them at Tasty Pastry

AP Feature Service

Los Angeles — The secret of Deputy Sheriff Frank Shanley's success as a cake maker is out. All he does is take shortening, sugar, eggs, flour and such things, mix them up and cook the thing. It's as simple as that—he says.

For the second straight year he came off first in the East Los Angeles community cake-baking, to the chagrin of 200 outclassed housewives. So tasty was his creation, in fact, that the home economist who judged the entries commented:

"I am going to give this to the woman who made it."

He may irk other women, but Mrs. Shanley is covered with pride. Says she:

"My cakes are never as good as his, but that isn't all. You should see some of the dinners he puts together. Why he often gets the Thanksgiving dinner from soup to nuts."

Shanley didn't want to tell how he made this year's prize orange layer cake, but he finally weakened. Here it is:

2/3 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup water

Cream shortening and sugar add eggs one at a time and beat well; sift flour before measuring (level measures), add baking powder and salt to the flour, sifting three times; mix flour with cream, mixing alternately with liquid, starting and ending with flour; bake two nine-inch pans in 375 degrees oven for 30 minutes.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Shanley

Icing: Butter the size of a walnut, four teaspoons warm milk, one tablespoon orange flavoring extract and enough powdered sugar so mixture will spread evenly.

When Salad's the Main Dish, Give It Dash and Substance

Individual rings of cherry walnut salad. Alternating light and dark sweet cherries give a gay party effect. Pineapple cubes and a cream cheese ball topped with a whole walnut kernel add the final touch.

By Mrs. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

A sprightly salad will give springtime verve to most any meal.

A substantial salad of vitamin-laden vegetables, fruits or cheese, along with a hot soup, bread and dessert, makes an attractive, appetite-tempting feature for lunch or supper.

Leftovers can be transformed into salads by clever assembling of foods of varied flavor, texture and color.

Salad regals call for cooked meat. Ham is excellent, but beef, veal, lamb or chicken will do. To serve 6, mix a cup of diced, cooked ham, 2 1/2 cups diced celery, 2 hard-cooked eggs, a tablespoon each of chopped onions, parsley, pimientos and chopped sweet pickles, 1/2 cup cooked peas or green beans, salt and paprika. Moisten with salad dressing. Chill and serve in a bowl lined with crisp salad green. Spread dressing on the top and add a saucy top-knot of parsley. Complete the meal with hot buttered spinach or kale, biscuits and honey and a fruit cobbler or shortcake for dessert.

Another salad, dubbed Fisherman's Catch, requires assorted fish. Mix a cup each of tuna, crab and shrimp. Add 2/3 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons each of chopped ripe olives, sweet pickles, green peppers and pimientos. Season with 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/3 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and 2 tablespoons French dressing. Chill thoroughly. Drain and add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Pile into a salad dish lined with lettuce. Garnish with ripe olives and radishes. You have enough to serve eight.

Hot rolls or cheese biscuits and raspberry jam go with this supper treat. Choose your own dessert.

If you are looking for a salad that lines up with meat or fish, try Spring Medley. This is brimful of minerals and vitamins. Soak 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin 5 minutes in 1/2 cup cold water. Add 1 cup boiling pineapple juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons granulated sugar and 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Cool and fold in diced pineapple, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon minced onions, 1/2 cup chopped cabbage, 1/3 cup salad dressing. Chill until firm. Serve on shredded lettuce and pass more dressing.

Salad Belmont is a fruit salad that's different. Dissolve a package of lime gelatin in a cup of boiling water. Cool and add 1/3 cup each of pineapple and orange juice and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Pour half into a loaf dish. Chill until set, then cover with an inch layer of cottage cheese. Cover the cheese with seeded white cherries and a few pecans. Chill until firm and cover with the rest of the gelatin. Keep cold until molded and then turn onto a platter. Garnish with lettuce and pass mayonnaise.

Never rub soap directly on hose when laundering. Make up a good suds and squeeze the suds through the hose. Gently press the water from the hose or pat it out with a bath towel. Do not wring. Hang carefully, shaking frequently to remove wrinkles.

"Aux fines herbes" means with the addition of finely chopped herbs. When this is in a recipe, it means the food is seasoned with herbs.

Girl Reserves Join
In 60th Anniversary

During the past week over 3,000 younger girls of the Young Women Christian Association's all over the country have been celebrating the 60th anniversary of the Girl Reserves in the United States with many festivities of all kinds as well as ceremonies and vesper services. The national secretaries have received messages of greetings from many foreign "Y's" and also from many important people including President Roosevelt.

In the local Y. W. C. A. in Kingston, the festivities were a combination of the frivolous and serious when the high school Girl Reserves entertained the Poughkeepsie Girl Reserves at an anniversary tea from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Frances Hainer, president of the inter-club council presided during the afternoon. She was assisted by Marie McAndrew, Judy Fessenden and Kathryn Phinney.

The social hour was uniquely planned by Hilda Kinch and Marion Ralff, members of the inter-club council, who led in the musical mixers and get-acquainted games. Wanda Watrous assisted by leading the group in a Virginia Reel and circle games.

The program in which the 60th anniversary was commemorated consisted of a skit depicting the Girl Reserves over a period of 60 years. The first scene was an office of the general secretary in 1881 where five younger girls plead for her to organize a club for them who have been snubbed by the business girls. In this scene were Shirley Riehl, Dorothy Deyo, Hazel Post, Kathryn Phinney, Virginia Bell, Audrey Gillen, Virginia Guadonola, Ruth Smith and Marie McAndrew.

The second scene was a club room in 1918 with a meeting being held at which the club advisor presents awards for merit. In this scene were Shirley Riehl, Judy Fessenden, Marion Ralff and Hilda Kinch.

Scene three was 1941 and showed the interest of the average girl of today with Judy Fessenden and Kathryn Phinney taking the roles. A solo, "Calm as the Night," sung by Shirley Riehl accompanied by Charlotte Cooper and a solo "Cradle Song" by Brahms, sung by Jeanne Ralff accompanied by Marion Ralff brought the program to a close.

Letters from Y. W. C. A. girls in war torn countries were read by Evelyn Watrous, Janice Cadogan, Ellen Rylea and Gloria May. One and greetings from the Chinese Y. W. C. A. girls were read by Babette Forst.

At the close of the program the group formed the large friendship circle and sang "Follow the Clean" and "The Girl Reserve Quest." Miss Rachel McLean, secretary for Girls' Work in Poughkeepsie Y. W. C. A. cut the large birthday cake which was brought into the circle by Miss Carolyn Mullin, local Girl Reserve secretary.

Concert in Saugerties

A concert in the First Congregational Church in Saugerties on Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock will feature Earl Norland, baritone; Adolph Schmidt, violinist; Eunice Plahn Norland, pianist; and two local artists, Josephine Mortel Dederick, soprano, and Donald Lockwood, pianist.

Earl Norland, the son of a Swedish Lutheran minister, has a long list of musical achievements to his credit including fame as one of the six Madrigalists heard over the CBS network.

Alfred Schmidt has appeared in concerts in the leading musical halls in Europe and America. He is frequently guest violinist at the annual summer concerts in Lewiston Stadium. Two years ago he gave a concert in the Saugerties church where he delighted all who heard him.

Eunice Plahn Norland, wife of Earl, met her husband in college and became his accompanist. As a musician in her own right she has received considerable recognition.

Donald L. Lockwood, supervisor of music in the Saugerties Public Schools and Josephine Dederick, Saugerties soprano, need no introduction to local audiences. Mr. Lockwood will accompany Mrs. Schmidt in the opening number, "La Folia" by Corelli. Mrs. Dederick will sing the duet, "La Ci Dorem La Mano" by Mozart with Mr. Norland.

Festival Dance at High Falls

The third annual Apple Blossom Festival dance under the auspices of the High Falls Civic Association will be held Saturday, May 10, at 9 p. m., at the Fire Hall in High Falls. The main feature of the evening will be the public appearance of "Tiny" Ruffner, the "happy birthday man" of radio station WJZ, who will act as master of ceremonies and will assist in choosing the queen of the dance from among those present. Music for dancing will be furnished by Ray Randall and his orchestra. There will also be square sets during the evening. The proceeds from the dance will be used for the civic improvement of the village. The Civic Association extends a cordial invitation to all.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke of North Newington, Conn., were week-end guests of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Clarke of Hurley avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Elmendorf of 76 Foxhall avenue are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today at their home.

Senator and Mrs. Herbert Harris of Bridgeport, Conn., entertained at a dinner on Sunday at their home. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Harris and son, C. H. Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fogg, all of this city.

Eric F. Fuegel, son of Mrs. Helen Fuegel of 45 Wrentham street, a student in the electrical engineering course at R. P. I., is the winner of a scholarship award for the coming year.

Mrs. Ella R. Ochs of 81 Green street is spending several days in New York city.

To keep dust from scattering when dusting radiators, lay a slightly dampened cloth on top of the radiator and paper underneath. Then take a long handled brush and dust with a vengeance. The cloth and paper collect the dust.

Four County Contestants for Queen Title

VIRGINIA RICHTER

ELIZABETH HAGGERTY

MARGARET EDSALL

VIRGINIA WILLIAMS

The 1941 Ulster County Apple Blossom Queen will be chosen at the municipal auditorium Friday evening from a group of 15 entrants. Here are four more girls who will represent Granges at the contest. Left to right, are Virginia Williams, who is 17 years old and the daughter of Chief of Police and Mrs. A. W. Richter of Saugerties. She is a graduate of Saugerties High School and will represent Asbury Grange. Elizabeth Haggerty, who was selected as Winter Queen in Rosendale this year, is 17 years old and a graduate of New Paltz Central High School, and will represent Rosendale Grange, No. 1501. Plattkill Grange is entering Margaret Edsall, who is 17 years old and a senior at Wallkill Central School. Virginia Williams of Ulster Park is being sponsored by the Ulster Park Grange. Miss Williams is very active in 4-H Club work, a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula; at present she is a student nurse.

Music Week Plans
Announced for City

The National Music Week committee, of which David Sarnoff is the active chairman has asked that one day in this week, which opens with the first Sunday in May, be set aside as "Inter-American Music Day." The idea is to extend to all countries of the Western Hemisphere an invitation to join with the United States in paying tribute to Music. It is hoped that this may lead to an Inter-American Music Week—and later to a world-wide observation that will give expression to feelings of fellowship, harmony and good will.

The Music Week movement in this country has spread to such an extent that now 3,000 cities and towns are taking part in the movement each year in May. Last year 48 governors and 281 mayors issued Music Week proclamations or statements to the press and 394 newspapers gave favorable editorial comment.

Paul A. Zucca, local chairman for Music Week, notes that so far announcements have been made of three outstanding Music Week events. They are a concert on Monday, May 5, at the high school auditorium, by the Ulster County Symphony Society; singing at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday, May 8, at a combined meeting of Kiwanis and Rotary by the high school A Cappella Choir of 85 voices; music on May 10, as part of the Apple Blossom Festival, by numerous high school bands, seven having already signified their intention to take part.

In addition to these events there undoubtedly will be others of a musical nature during the week beginning Sunday, May 4. It is announced also that the Cooperative Community Concert Association has selected Music week as the appropriate time for its membership drive.

Good Taste
Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

WOMEN CAN NEVER PAY
RESTAURANT CHECK OR
BUY TICKETS AT BOX
OFFICE WITHOUT BELITTLING MAN.

A man shouldn't feel "red in the face" at having to sit by while a woman pays the waiter for their meal would be the exception, and have to endure this "loss of face" in the presence of others would make his discomfort that much more conspicuous. And yet many of the younger generation will probably agree with the point of view expressed by the young man mentioned in the following letter:

"I've had an argument with a young man I go out with often. He is a classmate at college and he says that if inconspicuously done, a woman may pay for a man friend's lunch, or cocktails, if she feels that for a change it is her turn. I disagree with him only because I have been brought up at home to think it would be little a man in the opinion of the waiter, or of any other witnesses, to see a woman pay the check. It is not that I disagree with the fact that in a case like ours it should sometimes be my turn. I know that many of our classmates agree that change about payment is permissible, but I am wondering whether you thing it in good taste to see a man let a woman pay the check."

To this I agree that a woman can not, without belittling a man, put money on the waiter's tray—still less take their checks and hand the money to the waiter, or go up to the box office window and buy tickets while he stands waiting. Even to pay the taxi driver is disturbing. But a woman can always ask a man to whom she feels overindebted to go with her to something for which she can buy tickets ahead of time.

And she can of course sign the restaurant check if they go to her club where accounts are charged and no one can pay.

On the other hand, as I explained in this column not long ago, when a man and woman happen by chance to meet in a restaurant and sit together, she should take her check as a matter of course, and he should feel no embarrassment. Also, she can insist on a reason that it is her turn to be hostess, and hand him a bill and ask him to be banker. (This is always done when she gives a party of four or more.)

The banker then pays the expenses out of this money, gives her an accounting, and returns any change that is left at the end of the evening. But in my opinion this would be the only "inconspicuous" way in which a woman could pay for a man.

DAILY
MENUS

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Chocolate is a favorite flavor.

Dinner Serving Four
Chilled Diced Fruits with Fresh Mint Garnish
Stuffed Roasted Lamb Roast
Escalloped Corn
Bread
Green Vegetable Salad
Tomato French Dressing
Devil's Food Pudding
Creamy Hard Sauce
Coffee

Tomato French Dressing

1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion juice
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/3 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1/2 cup vinegar
1 1/2 cups salad oil
1 clove garlic (peeled)
1 cup tomato juice
Mix ingredients in a jar or bottle. Cover and shake two minutes. Discard garlic and store dressing, covered, in refrigerator. Shake well and serve poured over crisp lettuce cut in half inch crossway slices.

Devil's Food Pudding

1/2 cup fat
1-1/3 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 squares chocolate, melted
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat two minutes. Pour into ring mold, greased and floured. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven—about 350 degrees. Unmold carefully onto serving plate. Cool. Fill with creamy hard or liquid sauce in the center of the pudding. Serve. If pudding is baked in loaf pan it will require an hour to cook.

Three Additional Festival Contest
Entries Reported

Three more entries for the Ulster County Apple Blossom Queen contest, to be held at the Municipal Auditorium Friday night, May 2, have been reported to Secretary Albert Kurdt.

They are Sally Sundstrom of Marlborough, who will represent the Marlborough Men's Club; Gloria Woolsey of Milton, representing the Milton National Bank; Robena Myers of Marlborough, representing the Marlborough American Legion Post.

These new entries bring to 15 the number so far reported to the secretary's office. Several other organizations have indicated that they might enter candidates in the competition, but so far they have not submitted any names.

A letter was sent today to the various contestants whose names have been submitted, directing them to report to Mrs. C. Zacharie Rogers, "back stage," at the Auditorium, not later than 8:15 o'clock the night of May 2. It is requested that formal dress be worn.

The statement is made that judging will be based on appearance, poise and personality and that "applause by the audience will not be considered a factor in choosing the Ulster county queen." Contestants will be required to appear on the stage several times before the audience and judges.

Dodgers in First Place; Minor Leaguers Here Thursday

Whit Wyatt Hits Single in Ninth To Defeat Reds

Paul Derringer Is Victim of Brooklyn's 7th in a Row; Tribe Belts Tigers, 7 to 2

(By The Associated Press)
The Cincinnati Reds last year were world champions, and they may be again, but it must be said at this early date that other teams have improved while the Reds have remained stationary.
The champs came east yesterday and bumped into the Brooklyn Dodgers, one of the National League's improved clubs. Their clash was a battle of Titans, but the Dodgers emerged with their seventh successive victory, 3-2, and took first place in the senior circuit, while the Reds were left languishing in fourth place.

Spectacular Catch
The Reds had good pitching—a six-hit job by their veteran ace, Paul Derringer. They had their customary flawless fielding—including one of the most spectacular catches of the young season when Ival (Poison Ivy) Goodman stood almost against the rightfield fence, 300 feet from the plate, and jumped high to spear a liner in the sixth inning. They had as good an offense as the Dodgers—six hits, including a home run by Buck McCormick.

But the Dodgers had that "zing" that challenges sometimes get and champions eventually lose.

Whit Wyatt, near 31 years of age and getting bald, struck out ten of the champs and held them to six hits, too. When McCormick's homer put the Reds in front, the Dodgers had what it took to get back in front—a single by Jim Waddell and a home run by Alex Kampouris who led the International League in circuit-winning last year. When the Reds tied the score through Ernesto Lombardi's triple in the seventh, the Dodgers had what was needed to win in the ninth—a single with two on by old Whit Wyatt himself.

The Reds haven't skidded, but to finish 12 games in front of the Dodgers last year they had to win 41 games by one run and Brooklyn had to fall into a lot of trouble like Joe Medwick's beaning, Harry Lavagetto's appendicitis operation, Wyatt's sore arm and Peewee Reese's broken heel bone.

Cards-Giants Today
You can bet that the fighting is going to be a lot fiercer this year. The St. Louis Cardinals are in the middle of it, also. They were idle yesterday, along with the rest of the league but today were to open their eastern swing against the third-place New York Giants.

The American League action has switched to the west. While the eastern teams were traveling yesterday, the Cleveland Indians reinforced their grip on first place by drubbing the Detroit Tigers, 7-2. The Chicago White Sox moved into a third-place tie with a 2-1 edge over the St. Louis Browns.

The contest at Cleveland started out as a hurling duel between Al Milnar and young Hal Newhouse, who was a great help to Detroit last year developing arm trouble.

Newhouse Is Wild
Newhouse showed he still is a potentially great pitcher by striking out nine men and allowing only four hits in six innings, but he was wilder than Larry MacPhail after reading one of Judge Landis' decisions. The 19-year-old southpaw gave nine walks and had to be removed with nobody out in the seventh, when he made a wild pitch with the bases loaded on two passes and an error. In the previous frame, he loaded the bases on two walks and a single, ahead of a single by Roy Weatherly. Meanwhile, Milnar hurled steady, six-hit ball and fanned five.

The White Sox beat the Browns simply because they put their eight hits closer together than St. Louis did its 11. Rookie Jack Hallett, a 6-foot 4-inch right-hander who was with Shreveport last season, survived the full nine innings for the victory.

Recreations Will Hold Third Drill At Barmann's Park

Manager Hoffman Expects All Players to Report for Practice; Team to Play Tuesday

The first twilight practice for Joe Hoffman and his Kingston Recreations will be held this evening at Barmann's Park starting at 6 o'clock. All players who have attended the first two drills are expected to report.

Confronted with the problem of the failure of his two catchers to report Sunday afternoon Manager Hoffman has already started "feelers" for a few well-known receivers in the Hudson Valley district. Vince Stoll, thought of as the player to have the inside track was one backstopper who didn't show up for the practice and this action might throw him out of the competition.

The Recreations will practice again Thursday evening and again Sunday afternoon in preparation for the tentative first tilt with Pittsfield at the stadium next Tuesday night.

Prize Winners in Mercantile Bowling League

At the annual banquet of the Y. M. C. A. Mercantile Bowling banquet last Wednesday evening at the "Y," various teams and individual bowlers were lauded for their outstanding performances throughout the past season. Al Relyea, vice-president of the circuit, presented trophies to the members of the Kingston Trust Co., Ballantines, Jelicos, Vanderlyn teams. In the top left corner are bowlers of the Kingston Trust, who are standing left to right, Arthur A. Davis, William Thiel, Ernest LeFevre and Edgar Freese. Thiel also won the high average award in the American Division. In the top right picture are members of Vanderlyn's, winners of the International Division. They are Charles Hines, Donald Utley and Herbert Engle. High average award in this circuit went to Utley, who posted 170. In the

Stays in Boston

PETE FOX

When Manager Joe Cronin and the Boston Red Sox left for the first western trip Sunday evening Pete Fox, obtained from the Detroit Tigers, was left at home. Fox was suffering from sore jaw after having a number of teeth extracted. In Fox' absence Cronin has been using Stan Spence, Dom DiMaggio and Lou Finney in the outfield. Ted Williams, regular leftfielder, is still on the sidelines after an early season injury.

Independent Loop Will Hold Second Annual Banquet

Bowlers Will Assemble at Barn Wednesday Evening, May 7; Keglers Will Be Given Awards

The The Kingston Independent Bowling League of the Central Recreation Alleys will hold its second annual banquet at The Barn, Wednesday, May 7. The bowlers of this league will receive the prizes which were offered for their ability to compete in an organized league. The eight teams and 67 men who comprise the league have participated in 84 games during the 28 weeks of its schedule. The league is a member of the Kingston Bowling Association and affiliated with the American Bowling Congress. The officers are Gil Sampson, president; Frank Martin, vice president; Bill Scully, secretary; Bill Robertson, treasurer.

The principal speaker for this function has not been announced as yet. However, one of Kingston's leading citizens will address the assemblage and a representative of the K. B. A. will be on hand to make the presentation of the A. B. C. gold medal to the bowler who has rolled the high single game of the season.

Tickets at a nominal price may be secured from any member of the league or reservations can be made by calling the Central Recreation Alleys, 19 Railroad avenue. No reservations will be accepted after Saturday, May 3.

Ponzi to Appear At Nick Kaslich Academy Tonight

Former World's Champion of Billiard Fame Will Show Fans His Skill Starting at 8:30

One of the great pocket billiard players in the world, Andrew Ponzi, will be the star attraction tonight at Nick Kaslich's Academy at 8:30 o'clock. A large turnout of interested fans is expected to attend.

Recently Ponzi was dethroned by Willie Mosconi in a world's championship match. Mosconi defeated Ponzi in the world's tournament series from tonight's local attraction.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, April 29.—More than half of the guys on Snorty Luster's Oklahoma U. grid squad are looking for their draft numbers to go up. . . Did you know that the only time Whirlaway whipped Out Boots in four tries last year was the only race in which "The Boots" wasn't ridden by either Carroll Bierman or Eddie Arcaro? . . . New York Boxing Commission is letting fighters who are consistent losers and will revoke their licenses. Yep, a heap of small fry managers are mighty indignant and are getting ready to go on relief. . . First serious football casualty is Steve Juzwick. Notre Dame's high scorer last year, who broke an arm in scrimmage the other day.

Bergere Will Seek To Gain New Honor In Speedway Event

Dapper Stunt Man of West Coast Has 5,064 Miles to Credit; Needs 186 to Pass Lou Meyer

Indianapolis, April 29 (AP)—Cliff Bergere, tall, dapper Hollywood automobile stunt man, has yet to win the Indianapolis 500 mile race but this year he can become the "iron man" of the famous arena of speed.

Bergere, whose bright-colored clothes make him look more like a fashion plate than race driver, needs to drive only 186 miles of the May 30th race to cover more miles on the Indianapolis track than any other man.

And if he only starts he will gain at least a tie for having driven in the most races. . . This will be Bergere's 14th start, but Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles can equal that mark by also starting the 1941 classic.

Gray-haired, 44-year-old Bergere now has driven 5,064 miles at Indianapolis, a figure surpassed only by Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., who has 5,249 miles to his credit. Meyer has retired from competition.

Only two active drivers are older than Bergere, who took up movie stunting because he wrecked so many cars in dirt track racing. Ira Hall of Terre Haute, Ind., soon will be 50. Hepburn is 45.

Bergere has finished his first start in 1927 but never better than third. This year, he will drive the same car as last year—a four-cylinder job in which the late Floyd Roberts won the 1937 race at the record speed of 117.2 miles an hour.

A leaky oil line forced Bergere out of the 1940 race at 127 miles. "I just feel that Lady Luck is on my side this year and that's all I need," he said today.

Transplanted New Englanders whose Chicago Cub rooting volume weakened with the departure of Gabby Hartnett, Woonsocket's first prize delegate to the big leagues, brightened when Edward Stephen Waitkus moved in as the Bruins' varsity first-baseman. Eddie moved in from the direction of Tulsa, where he drove in 91 runs with his 303 average last year, but he's a down-Easterner, born and raised in Cambridge, Mass., a grad of Cambridge Latin School. This is his third year of professional baseball. He led the Moline team in hitting his first year out of Latin School, played every inning of every game, all season, and was picked unanimously for the Three-Eye League all-star team.

Pittsfield to Meet Amsterdam Club at Municipal Stadium

Rees Are Scheduled Next Tuesday in Game With Pittsfield; Team Has Good Fingers

The first baseball game of the early season gets its acid test Thursday night at the municipal stadium when the Pittsfield City of the Canadian-American League meets Amsterdam, winner of the 1940 flag. Game time is 5 o'clock.
Manager Joe Hoffman and his Kingston Recreations will have their part in helping the Bay State to complete the training schedule in an exhibition contest. This game is tentatively set for next Tuesday at the stadium.

Following Thursday's tussle with Amsterdam the Pittsfield minor leaguers will be in Copake Falls Friday and then on to Oneonta on Saturday. At Hawkins Stadium in Albany Sunday afternoon Pittsfield will meet Gloversville, the team that used the stadium for a training camp in 1940. When local fans see Pittsfield Thursday they'll see a real pennant contender under the supervision of Manager Artie Funk, player-manager who cavorts around the shortstop area. Funk now has 14 players on the staff but expects another group to call in at any time. By league rules the teams are limited to the use of 16 men on the roster.

Although Funk hasn't announced any definite batterymen as yet, it is expected that Glenn Spencer, formerly owned by the New York Giants, would be on the hill with George Savino on the receiving end. Savino is a veteran of the Eastern League and knows his way around the baseball business. George Watson, a portlander, will relieve Spencer if the going gets rough.

A few of the other players ready to wear the Pittsfield uniform this summer are Lloyd Moore, great keystone player; Ray Wotchkowiak, first sacker; Arnold Cohen, outfielder; Steve Duda and Harry Kantushian, two hurlers. The latter won 20 games in 1940 and 18 in 1939.

With the Recreations now training for the coming season local fans will get their first glimpse of the team at the stadium next Tuesday. A number of changes is expected to be made soon by Manager Joe Hoffman, who is seeking to turn out a winning team.

Hoffman has announced that the team will hold its third practice next Sunday afternoon and after this drill he'll make known his lineup for the coming season.

Gov. Lehman Signs New Racing Law

Prison Term Is Liable for Jockey Bribers

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Bribing of jockeys now is a felony in New York, punishable by a maximum prison term of five years and a fine of not more than $10,000.

A law signed by Governor Lehman yesterday also makes it a felony to "influence" track owners, stewards, trainers, judges, starters and special policemen to lose a race.

The measure was sponsored by Republican Senator William F. Condon, member of a legislative committee studying operation of New York's pari-mutuel system.

Benoit Wins First

At the Metropolitan Open Skeeet championship held at Carlstadt, N. J., Sunday afternoon A. G. Benoit of West Camp won first prize in Class No. 3 of the all-bore event with a score of 94x100. The Lewis system of classification was used by the officials.

TURNING ATHENS OVER TO THE GERMANS

The mayor of Athens (left) and the city commander (center) turn the Greek capital over to the German commander (right). ## If Germans Use Palestine As Stepping Stone, Jews Will Have an Uneasy Time

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

The possibility that the Germans may attempt to use Palestine as a stepping stone for an attack on Egypt from the east holds out grim potentialities for the Holy Land, because of the danger of the revival of the bloody strife between the Arabs and the Jews.

The position of the large Jewish population would, as I see it, become extremely difficult to say the least, if the British were unable to hold this position.

Axis agents are reported to be swarming the whole Near East, trying to swing the Arab populations over to the Nazi camp and away from the British by handsome promises.

Thus it is logical to expect that, should the Nazis succeed in invading Palestine, the Arabs might take advantage of the position to try to drive the Jews from their new national home. Certainly the bitterly anti-Semitic Germans couldn't be expected to discourage such a move.

Axis agents are more prominently in the picture because of reports in London of heavy Nazi "tourist infiltration" into neighboring French-mandated Syria. If this proves to be true, it will be a repetition of the old story—the "tourists" are German soldiers in civilian clothes.

Figuring on Possibility British military men naturally are figuring on the possibility that the Nazis are intending to use Syria as a base for an attack on Egypt through Palestine, or for operations against Turkey. Of course, there is no definite indication at the moment of just what Hitler contemplates, but the use of Syria as a springboard certainly is a possibility—if the Nazis can get to it.

The threat to Palestine is rendered much more grave from the fact that the grand mufti of Jerusalem, head of 900,000 Moslems, is said to be working vigorously against the British from his exile in Baghdad, Iraq. This powerful personality is trying to out both the British and the Jews from Palestine, which he regards as belonging to the Arabs.

The latest official estimate of the population of Palestine made in June, 1939, gave approximately 849,000 Arabs, 425,000 Jews and 115,000 Christians. The Jewish total may have increased since then.

Terrible violence has marked the history of Palestine even since the establishment of the Jewish national home 18 years ago. The Arabs have contended that the British promised them sovereignty over the country as a reward for helping the allies in the World War. The Jews have pointed to the famous Balfour declaration of 1917, promising the establishment of the national home.

The bloody fighting has invaded Jerusalem, holy city of three great religions—Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism. It has even been carried into the shadow of the sacred wailing wall of the Jews.

Thousands of Casualties There have been thousands of casualties. Destruction of property has run into millions.

The British charge that back of much of the trouble is seen the handiwork of the grand mufti. He fled Palestine in 1937 after his arrest had been ordered on the charge that he was sending terrorist bands against the Jews.

Since then he has made his headquarters in various places among his followers, and is said to be living in Baghdad now. He is reputed to have had a hand in the recent overthrow of the Iraqi government and its replacement by one which the Germans have claimed is favorable to them.

The grand mufti is a powerful figure in the Near East. Not only does he control the Arabs of Palestine, but since his exile he has spread his influence in neighboring countries, notably Syria and Iraq, both of which are of great importance to the German projects.

The mufti has created an elaborate and well-financed organization. The British charge that he has been stirring up trouble against them through the Arab world, and has been buying arms and ammunition for his followers. He and his people are utterly opposed to the Jewish national home.

The mufti is highly educated and traces his descent to the Prophet Mohammed. He is about 48 years old and has a striking personality which lends itself to leadership. He works quietly and always cloaks his moves in oriental mystery.

Letters often require three days to travel from one part of a city to another in Russia.

With temperatures ranging in the 60's since April 22, following the nine days of mid-summer temperatures, the city hall thermometer Monday afternoon recorded a high of 78 degrees. The lowest point reached Sunday night by the thermometer was 54 degrees. Last night the lowest temperature recorded was 49 degrees. There has been but little rain so far this month in Kingston. The official records in the city engineer's office show that the precipitation so far this month was 1.41 inches. This is the smallest rainfall reported in April in several years.

Texas Town Plans Holiday From Worries

Seymour, Tex., April 29 (AP)—Only police, firemen and international worries will be left in Seymour Thursday.

Its 3,500 citizens are going fishing. "Notwithstanding dictatorialships, wars and worldwide selfishness and greed," Mayor C. M. Randall proclaimed the annual trek to nearby Lake Kemp on the opening day of the Texas game fish season.

Schools, banks and business houses will close. Even gasoline purchases must be made Wednesday night.

"Too long continued and consistent concentration on this (international) crisis," the official proclamation asserted, "is sure to prove detrimental to the mental and physical health of the people of this great nation. The people of Seymour have the responsibility to prove to the world that enjoyment of life and the pursuit of happiness (and fish) still have a place in the American way."

Mrs. Roosevelt Denies President Made Pledges

Los Angeles, April 29 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was given a protective escort of secret service men and police for her lecture appearance at Philharmonic auditorium last night.

Capt. R. E. Giese of the homicide squad said plainclothesmen were assigned to the hall after an anonymous letter had reported it would be "picketed for peace." There was no disturbance.

In her informal question and answer period, the first lady was asked "do you think the President will keep his promise and keep us out of war?"

"He hasn't made any such promise," Mrs. Roosevelt replied. "He has said he wants peace. If it is possible to stay at peace, we will do so... but the ultimate decision rests with the people."

To another who said "tell the President we will not give our lives any place except in America," she declared:

"Any American who will not fight any place his country asks him to fight is not an American."

Blind Ask Chance To Make Living By Their Skill

"Help the Blind to Help Themselves" is the slogan of the Kingston sale for the blind which is now being held at 279 Fair street, Kingston.

The blind ask for a chance to work. They do not wish to depend on public or private charity. Kingston will give them this chance.

At the Albany shops where a large amount of the merchandise offered for sale is made, one will find much of the sewing work done by young blind girls operating power sewing machines similar in every respect to the machines used in "sighted" factories. This same principle applies to the carpenter shop, where blind young men use saws, presses, lathes, sanders and other appliances in making toys and games out of wood.

All are invited to call at the Albany shops and inspect the work in the course of its production.

Technicolor Film

A sound and technicolor film "The Touch of the Switch" will be shown Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the meeting of the Men's Club of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The uptown club has extended an invitation to the Men's Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Church to be their guests that evening, and it is expected that a number of the downtown club members will accept.
